A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SYDNEY, March 14.—Thousands of United States soldiers have arrived safely in Australia.

Where the soldiers are debarking and what they are doing is a military secret. But it is posible now to reveal that the troop convoy in which I came to Australia three weeks ago was attacked on more than one occasion.

Our protecting warships were quick to strike and I have a notion that some of the Japanese who left home looking for trouble found so much of it in our company that they will never get home to tell the tale.

On the other hand, every man in our convoy reached his destination safe and sound.

Crowded Troopships.

We made the journey in crowded, blacked-out troopships, out of touch with the world at war for several weeks, not knowing at any one time what waters we were in or where we were headed.

The men with whom I made the journey came from all parts of the United States. Many of them were rushed across the country to our embarkation point to leave on one of the early transports which were harbingers of many more to come.

By soft civilian peacetime standards, the ships were overcrowded. So much so, in fact, that some of the thousands on all the transports slept in tiers of bunks on the semi-sheltered decks. Out there it was cold the first few nights, for it was midwinter when we left North America, but when we reached the tropics those whose bunks were on deck were the lucky ones. The

U. S. PLUM FOR HANNEGAN ASSAILED IN CONGRESS AS 'SLAP IN FACE' OF ST. LOUIS

Ploeser Tells House That Appointment Would Be Insult to Voters Who Drove Out 'Vote-Stealing and Vote-Padding Machine.'

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The efforts of Senators Clark and Truman to reward Robert E. Hannegan with the Collectorship of Internal Revenue at St. Louis were denounced on the House floor late yesterday by Representative Walter C. Ploeser (Rep.), St. Louis, as "directly an insult to the intelligence of the voters of St. Louis."

Ploeser put into the Congressional Record much of the article in last Monday's Post-Dispatch by Curtis A. Betts, State political correspondent of the Post-Dispatch, which reviewed the history of the attempted governorship steal, and an editorial from the St. Louis Star-Times.

Opening his remarks, Ploeser said:

"If the present plans to appoint Robert Hannegan, the discredited retiring chairman of the St. Louis Democratic Committee, to the post of Collector of Internal Revenue for the St. Louis district go forward, it will be the rawest slap in the face the Federal administration could ever give the people in the great city of St. Louis.

"Undermines Public Morale."

"Any man who has operated a political organization of the nature of the scandalous Dickmann-Hannegan machine in St. Louis would have little respect for Federal civil service.

"How can we expect wholehearted co-operation from the people in the war effort when the administration, by political appointments, undermines the public morale by disregarding the people's mandate?"

Ploeser told his colleagues that it was his desire to show the House some of the things which were about to be perpetrated on the people of St. Louis by the attempt to appoint Hannegan. Continuing, he said:

"Mr. Hannegan has for the last number of years been the chairman of the Democratic City Committee of St. Louis, and has been the head, at least the organization head, of what was known as the Dickmann-Hannegan machine, the same crowd of political cohorts who tried to steal the governorship of the State of Missouri a year ago after Republican Forrest Donnell was elected by some 3700 votes to the governorship. Gov. Donnell is a man of whom Missouri may well be proud.

"The great newspapers of St. Louis feel so deeply and indignantly on this question that the St. Louis Post-Dispatch has published a special article in which it has devoted three or four pages to the subject, relating all the scandals of this political machine."

At this point, Congressman

O'HARE'S EXPLOIT PART OF DEFENSE OF CONVOY ON WAY TO AUSTRALIA

IT now has been established that Lieut. Edward Henry O'Hare of St. Louis was in the naval convoy taking United States troops to Australia—a troop movement described in today's Post-Dispatch by Edward Angly, who accompanied the convoy.

Tom Yarbrough, Associated Press correspondent, last Monday gave an eyewitness account of the shooting down of 18 Japanese bombers, six of them credited to Lieut. O'Hare in a battle somewhere in the Pacific. Yarbrough said 20 enemy bombers attacked an American task force.

"Our compact force of warships was in geometrical formation around an aircraft carrier and was out here protecting the Allied lifeline," Yarbrough wrote. "The carrier, of course, was the prize target, but the Japanese didn't touch it. The bombs all fell wide of their mark and the vaunted Japanese torpedo bombers—so successful at Pearl Harbor—didn't even appear."

FOUR ARMY FLYERS KILLED IN CALIFORNIA PLANE CRASH

Lieutenant and Three Cadets Victims in Wreck of Navigational Training Craft.

TAFT, Cal., March 14 (AP).—Four Army flyers were killed last night when a two-motored navigational training plane crashed a mile from Fellows.

Aviation Cadet Robert L. Black, Galesburg, Ill.

Aviation Cadet Leonard E. Fasholtz, Nowata, Ok.

Col. K. C. McGregor, commanding Gardner Field, ordered a board of inquiry formed to investigate. The ship was from Mather Field, near Sacramento.

Roosevelt Asks Governors to Seek 40-Mile Speed Limit to Save Tires

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP).—President Roosevelt has written all the state Governors asking for their co-operation to conserve rubber by limiting the maximum speed of all motor vehicles to 40 miles an hour and requiring frequent checking of tires for possible repair or retreading.

The text of the letters follows:

"My Dear Governor:

"As you know, we are doing everything possible to conserve rubber. The situation in the Far East makes this very necessary for the successful prosecution of the war effort.

"It has been said that a large part of our rubber stockpile is on the wheels of the more than 30,000,000 motor vehicles of the country. If this stockpile is conserved by the individual motorists, as we are endeavoring to conserve the national stockpile, tires will last much longer, cars will run much farther, and civilian life will be less disturbed because of lack of sufficient transportation facilities.

"Rubber experts agree that fast driving wastes rubber and that tires run many more miles when driven at limited rates of speed.

"May I suggest that this waste could be curtailed to the advantage of the individual motorist, and likewise to the advantage of the country, if the speed of all motor vehicles were limited to a maximum of 40 miles per hour and if regulations were promulgated requiring frequent checking of tires in order to insure their repair or, where possible, retreading at the proper time.

"I would greatly appreciate your co-operation in an effort to achieve these objectives throughout the country.

"The tire rationing program, so recently established by the Office of Price Administration, has been a marked success and has met with ready acceptance throughout the United States, largely because of the enthusiastic co-operation and participation on the part of the Governors and their state defense councils.

COLOGNE BOMBED HEAVILY BY R.A.F., LARGE FIRES SET IN NIGHT ASSAULT

British Down 8 German Planes in Daylight Battles Over Channel—French Coast Pounded in Series of Attacks.

LONDON, March 14 (AP).—British fighter planes shot down eight German Messerschmitts in a series of dogfights over the English Channel today in a mid-morning followup of night raids in which the Rhineland industrial city of Cologne was hit hard by British bombers, an official announcement said.

The statement asserted that not a single British plane was lost in the Channel battles.

(The German high command said earlier that eight British planes had been downed by German fighters over the Channel.)

The raid on Cologne was announced by the Air Ministry, which said a "great weight" of high explosives was dumped on the city in a continuation of the R. A. F.'s new offensive.

Many Fires Set.

Many large fires were left burning in Cologne, center of a maze of water, highway and rail transportation lines, the ministry said. Other raids on Germany were implied in the statement that Cologne was "the main objective."

Four bombers were reported missing.

"Airdromes in occupied territory also were attacked during the night and mines were laid in enemy waters," the ministry said.

Widespread Assaults.

Cologne was bombed after R. A. F. squadrons had blasted the naval base of Kiel and pounded the German-occupied French coast in night and daylight raids.

Cologne, a fortified city of 750,000 population, is about 40 miles from the Belgian border.

(The Swiss radio said Paris had a one-hour alarm, but there was no indication that bombs had fallen on the city, whose industrial

11 AMERICAN WARSHIPS LISTED BY NAVY AS LOST THROUGH ENEMY ACTION

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)

THE loss of the cruiser Houston and the destroyer Pope brings to 11 the total of American warships announced by the Navy as lost through enemy action.

Previous losses were:

The battleship Arizona, the destroyers Cassin and Downes, the minelayer Oglala and the target ship Utah, all at Pearl Harbor; the destroyers Reuben James and Jacob Jones and the Coast Guard cutter Alexander Hamilton in Atlantic waters, and the naval tanker Neches, in an unidentified area.

AMERICAN TROOPS PARADE IN LONDON; FIRST TIME IN WAR

"No Spit-and-Polish," in Contrast to British Reviews, Reporter Says.

LONDON, March 14 (AP).—United States troops went on parade this morning in London for the first time since the start of the war. A small contingent marched into a park for inspection by an American colonel.

English spectators noticed contrasts between the parading Americans and review of their own troops. One newspaperman remarked that it was "not a spit-and-polish parade."

The Americans' shoes were clean, he said, but "there was not one highly polished pair." He added that all the men "had impressive trouser creases which would have been a credit to British guardsmen."

Another reporter was surprised during inspection of quarters when three men, who had been on night duty, continued to sleep when the Colonel passed through. One of them heard the shout of "attention!" but only turned over.

UNITED NATIONS COMMUNIQUE ON NAVAL LOSSES OFF JAVA

Far East:

Joint British Admiralty and United States Navy Department communique:

Although full information is not yet available, it is now possible to give some account of events in the Java Sea on Feb. 27 and subsequent days during Japanese invasion of Java.

On the afternoon of Friday, Feb. 27, an Allied force consisting of H. M. A. S. Perth, H. M. S. Exeter, the U. S. S. Houston and Dutch cruisers Deruyter and Java were at sea north of Soerabaja. The Allied cruisers were accompanied by a group of British, Dutch and United States destroyers. This force was under the sea command of Rear Admiral Deoorman of the Dutch Navy, whose flag was flying in the Deruyter. The whole naval force in the area was under the strategic control of Vice-Admiral Helfrich of the Royal Netherlands Navy.

At 4:14 p. m. on Feb. 27, this Allied force made contact with a Japanese force about half way between Bawean Island and Soerabaja. The Japanese force consisted of at least nine cruisers of which two were of the Nati class of 10,000 tons armed with 10 8-inch guns. The Japanese cruisers had with them two flotillas of destroyers.

Action Joined.

Action was joined at extreme range. Almost at once one of the Japanese destroyer flotillas launched an attack but this attack was driven off by the fire of Allied cruisers and one of the enemy destroyers was seen to be hit by shells from H. M. A. S. Perth. Soon afterward the other Japanese destroyer flotilla delivered a torpedo attack. While action was being taken to avoid these torpedoes H. M. S. Exeter was hit by an 8-inch shell in a boiler room.

This reduced her speed and forced her to drop out of line. Only one of the torpedoes launched in this attack took effect. This hit The Netherlands destroyer Kortenaer and she sank.

Three destroyers were ordered to counterattack the Japanese destroyers who were retiring under cover of a smoke screen. Very little information is available about the result of this counter-attack. H. M. S. Jupiter reported seeing only two enemy destroyers both of which she engaged with gunfire. H. M. S. Electra was not seen after she had disappeared into the smoke screen and it is presumed that she was sunk. As soon as Allied cruisers, including the Houston but without the Exeter, which was unable to keep up, drew clear of smoke they again engaged the enemy, this time at shorter range. Less than half an hour later the enemy cruisers turned away under cover of a smoke screen. It was seen that one of the enemy's heavy eight-inch-gun cruisers had been hit aft and was burning fiercely.

Chases Enemy.

Admiral Deoorman led his force about and chased the enemy northeastward, but he failed to regain touch with the enemy in the fading light. After nightfall the Allied cruisers sighted four enemy ships to westward and engaged them but without definite knowledge of the results.

Admiral Deoorman attempted to work around these enemy ships in order to locate the convoy which was expected to the northward. This was found to be impossible owing to the high speed of the enemy, and Admiral Deoorman then turned his force to southward to approach the coast of Java intending to sweep to the westward along the coast in an attempt to intercept the Japanese invasion convoys.

Half an hour after this Allied force had turned to westward along the Java coast H. M. S. Jupiter was disabled by an underwater explosion. She sank four hours later. H. M. S. Jupiter was not far from the mainland of Java and a number of survivors have already reached Australia. A United States submarine assisted in the rescue of 53 survivors.

At 11:30 p. m. when the remaining Allied cruisers were about 12 miles north of Rembang two enemy cruisers were sighted between our ships and the coast. Our ships at once engaged and a number of hits were secured on the enemy. The Deruyter was hit by one shell. Afterward the Deruyter made a Japanese Cruiser and Destroyer Destroyed, and Possibly Four Other Vessels—Two Were Damaged.

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP).—The American cruiser Houston, the American destroyer Pope and 10 other warships of the United Nations were lost in the Battle of Java, the Navy disclosed today, adding that a thirteenth Allied ship was reported beached and presumed lost.

In the great battle in which they went down—British, Australian and Dutch along with the United States vessels — the United Nations accounted for eight Japanese warships sunk or damaged.

The action started on Feb. 27 between Bawean Island and Soerabaja when the United Nations forces attempted to block the landing of Japanese troops from convoys protected by a large force of warships.

The Houston, a 10,000-ton cruiser launched in 1929, was once the flagship of the commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet, Admiral Thomas C. Hart, and was a favorite of President Roosevelt for use on ocean cruises.

The Pope, a "four stacker" of the first World War type, was launched in 1920 at Philadelphia. It was a 1190-ton vessel.

The complement of the Houston is listed in Jane's "Fighting Ships" as from 691 to 795 men; that of the Pope as 122.

The Allied losses were made public in a joint British Admiralty and United States Navy Department communique which listed them as:

Cruisers—The Houston, United States; Exeter, British; Perth, Australian; Java, Dutch; Deruyter, Dutch.

Destroyers — Pope, United States; Kortenaer, Dutch; Electra, Jupiter, Encounter and Stronghold, British.

Others were the Yarra, Australian sloop, and the Evertsen, a Dutch destroyer, which was listed as beached and presumed lost.

Japanese Losses.

The Japanese losses, according to the early reports obtained by the Navy, were one cruiser hit and burning, a cruiser sunk, a cruiser damaged, a destroyer sunk, a cruiser of the Morgami class on fire and possibly sinking, and three destroyers on fire and sinking.

The greatest naval encounter of this war was fought in a screen of smoke put up by both Japanese and Allied warships.

The Japanese force consisted of at least nine cruisers, the Navy said, of which two were 10,000-ton ships armed with eight-inch guns.

The Japanese cruisers were accompanied by two flotillas of destroyers.

As described by the Navy, the action started at "extreme range," and almost at once one of the Japanese destroyer flotillas launched an attack, but this was driven off by Allied cruisers and one of the enemy destroyers was seen to be hit by shells from the Perth.

Attack With Torpedoes.

Soon afterward, the other Japanese destroyer flotilla delivered a torpedo attack, and while action was taken to avoid these torpedoes, the Exeter was hit by an eight-inch shell which struck in a boiler room. It was forced to reduce speed and drop out of line.

Only one torpedo launched in the attack took effect, hitting the Netherlands destroyer Kortenaer and it sank.

Three destroyers were ordered by the commander of this naval force, Rear Admiral Deoorman of the Dutch Navy, to counterattack the Japanese destroyers which were retiring under cover of a smoke screen.

Very little information, the Navy communique said, was available about the result of this counter-attack.

The Jupiter reported seeing only two enemy destroyers, both of which it engaged with gunfire. The Electra was not seen after it disappeared into the smoke screen and the Navy said "it is presumed she was sunk."

Enemy Cruiser Is Hit.

The Allied cruisers, including the Houston, drew clear of the smoke as soon as possible and again engaged the enemy at shorter range. Less than 30 minutes later, enemy cruisers turned away under cover of a smoke screen, but it was seen that one of their heavy eight-inch gun cruisers had been hit aft and was burning fiercely.

Late in the afternoon Admiral Deoorman chased the enemy northeastward but failed to regain touch with the foe in the fading light, the communique added.

"After nightfall," it said, "the Allied cruisers sighted four enemy ships to westward and engaged them but without definite knowledge of the results."

The Dutch naval commander attempted to work around these enemy ships in order to find the convoy which was expected to the northward.

"This was found to be impossible owing to the high speed of the enemy," the communique explained, "and Admiral Deoorman then turned his force to southward to approach the coast of Java intending to sweep westward along the coast in an attempt to intercept the Japanese invasion convoys.

"Half an hour after this Allied force had turned to westward along the Java coast, H. M. S. Jupiter was disabled by an underwater explosion. She sank four hours later. H. M. S. Jupiter was not far from the mainland of Java, and a number of survivors have already reached Australia. A United States submarine assisted in the rescue of 53 survivors."

Navy spokesmen said the Jupiter undoubtedly was sunk by Japanese submarines operating in that vicinity.

Dutch Cruisers Sunk.

That night at 11:30, the communique resumed, when the remaining Allied cruisers were about 12 miles north of Rembang, two enemy cruisers were sighted between our ships and the coast.

"Our ships at once engaged and a number of hits were secured on the enemy," the communique said.

"The Deruyter was hit by one shell. Afterwards, the Deruyter made a large change of course presumably in order to avoid torpedoes fired by the enemy. The other Allied cruisers were following the Deruyter when underwater explosions occurred simultaneously in the cruisers Deruyter and Java. Both these Dutch cruisers blew up and sank at once.

"It is impossible to estimate with accuracy the damage inflicted upon the enemy during these actions of Feb. 27. Observers in the Perth considered that one Japanese eight-inch gun cruiser was sunk, a second eight-inch cruiser damaged and a destroyer sunk. It has also been reported that a cruiser of the Mogami class was set on fire and three destroyers seriously damaged and left on fire or sinking.

"H. M. A. S. Perth and U. S. S. Houston, which had received some damage in this action, reached Tanjong Priok at 7 o'clock in the morning of Feb. 28. Five U. S. destroyers reached Sourabaya (Soerabaja) after the action.

Sunk Trying to Escape.

"With the enemy in command of sea and air north of Java in overwhelming force, the Allied command was faced with the problem of extricating the remaining Allied ships from a very dangerous situation."

ends of the island under enemy

That night the Perth sent out a report which the communique said indicated that it and the Houston had contacted a force of Japanese ships off St. Nicholas Point. Nothing, however, the Navy said, has been heard from the Perth or Houston since that time, and the next of kin of Houston are being informed accordingly.

Radio Flash, Then Silence.

On Sunday, March 1, the Exeter reported sighting three enemy cruisers steering toward it, and no further word has been received from any of the three Allied ships.

The Dutch destroyer Evertsen encountered two Japanese cruisers in Sunda Strait and was damaged and beached.

The destroyer Stronghold and sloop Yarra also were missing and presumably lost.

Capt. Albert H. Rooks, a native of Colton, Wash., was commander of the Houston and Lieut. Commander Welford C. Blinn of the Pope.

Capt. Rooks, whose residence was given by the Navy as Seattle, was 50 years old and had been awarded the Mexican service medal in 1914 and the Victory medal for World War service.

Lieut. Commander Blinn, whose residence was listed as Smyrna, Fla., was 39.

It is impossible to estimate with accuracy the damage inflicted upon the enemy during these actions of Feb. 27. Observers in the Perth consider that one Japanese eight-inch-gun cruiser was sunk, a second eight-inch-gun cruiser damaged and a destroyer sunk. It also has been reported that a cruiser of the Mogami class was set on fire and three destroyers seriously damaged and left on fire or sinking.

H. M. A. S. Perth and U. S. S. Houston, which had received some damage in this action, reached Tanjong Priok at 7 o'clock the morning of Saturday, Feb. 28. Five United States destroyers reached Soerbaja after the action.

With the enemy in command of sea and air north of Java in overwhelming force the Allied command was faced with the problem of extricating the remaining Allied ships from a very dangerous situation. The way to Australia was barred by the 600-mile-long island of Java with the straits at either end of it under enemy control.

After dark on Feb. 28, H. M. A. S. Perth and U. S. S. Houston left Tanjong Priok with the intention of passing through Sunda Strait during dark hours. During the night a report from H. M. A. S. Perth was received which indicated that she and U. S. S. Houston had come into contact with a force of Japanese ships off St. Nicholas Point at about 1:30 p. m. Nothing however has been heard from H. M. A. S. Perth or the U. S. S. Houston since that time. The next of kin of the U. S. S. Houston are being informed accordingly.

The same night, the Exeter, which was capable of only half speed, left Soerabaja accompanied by H. M. S. Encounter and the United States destroyer Pope. On the forenoon of Sunday, March 1, the Exeter reported that she had sighted three enemy cruisers steering toward her. No further word has been received from the Exeter, Encounter or the U. S. S. Pope. The next of kin of the Pope are being informed accordingly. The Dutch destroyer Evertsen encountered two Japanese cruisers in Sunda Strait. She was damaged and was beached.

The destroyer H. M. S. Stronghold and sloop H. M. A. S. Yarra are also missing and presumably lost.

It has not been possible to form any accurate estimate of damage inflicted on the enemy by these ships during these actions.

There is nothing to report from other areas.

JAPANESE CLAIMS ON ALLIED LOSSES

A Japanese headquarters announcement, broadcast from Tokyo on March 3, said 23 United Nations warships had been sunk in the Java Sea battle during the previous week end.

Listing six cruisers, eight destroyers, seven submarines, one gunboat and one minesweeper, the Japanese identified by name the five cruisers, announced today in Washington and London as lost. They were the Houston, Exeter, Perth, Java and Deruyter.

In addition, the Japanese said, the 7105-ton Australian cruiser Hobart had also been sunk but this was not confirmed by today's official United Nations' announcement.

The smaller vessels were not identified by name in the Japanese communique.

The Japanese admitted the loss of only one minesweeper and said one of their destroyers was slightly damaged.

The American naval force, the Japanese reported had lost the heavy cruiser Augusta, a sister ship of the Houston, in an earlier engagement off the Java coast.

In addition to its claims in the battle of Java, Tokyo Wednesday reported the 7050-ton United States cruiser Marblehead had been sunk in the Indian Ocean west of Australia.

GOEBBELS IN VIENNA PREDICTS 'GREAT VICTORIES THIS YEAR'

Italian Agency Reports Speech on Fourth Anniversary of Absorption of Austria.

ROME (From Italian broadcasts) March 14 (AP).—German Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels promised "great Axis victories this year" in a speech today at Vienna on the fourth anniversary of Germany's absorption of Austria, Stefani News Agency reported last night.

Contrary to reports abroad, Goebbels said, the understanding between Berlin and Vienna "is excellent," Stefani said.

RABAUL BOMBED, PLANES DAMAGED BY AUSTRALIANS

Japanese Airmen Attack Point Near Yule Island Mission, 60 Miles West of Port Moresby.

MELBOURNE, March 14 (AP).—The Air Ministry announced today that Australian bombers had raided a Japanese airdrome at Rabaul, New Britain, and heavily damaged grounded enemy planes.

Japanese planes attacked a point 60 miles west of Port Moresby, New Guinea, near the Yule Island mission. Port Moresby itself was subjected yesterday to machine gun and cannon fire by enemy fighter aircraft.

Apparent loss of the Australian cruiser Perth and sloop Yarra with their 833 men in the withdrawal from Java was officially announced. The announcement said the ships fought successfully and without damage in the battles of the Java Sea but had not been heard from since they left a Java port for home. Their fate is not known, but they are presumed to have sunk. The Perth was a 6980-ton ship and the Yarra an 1060-ton vessel.

Naval sources said possibly some of the 682 men of the cruiser Perth and 151 of the sloop Yarra had reached land.

Today's communique on Royal Australian Air Force and Japanese operations said:

"Heavy damage was inflicted on grounded enemy aircraft in an attack on the airdrome at Rabaul on March 12. One direct hit was observed on enemy aircraft and another bomb probably destroyed two others. One heavy bomb exploded between 10 closely packed aircraft. Although the results were not observed, they were probably considerable.

"Details of the attack on Gasmata (New Britain) on Feb. 12 show airdrome runways were damaged. Our aircraft encountered heavy anti-aircraft fire.

"Enemy fighters attacked Port Moresby with machine-gun and cannon fire on the morning of March 13. One member of the R. A. A. F. was wounded in the leg."

Missions in Northern Australia, including those on Melville Island and Leper Island in Darwin Bay, have been evacuated against possible Japanese landings, church officers said. More than 100 persons were taken off the islands and taken to a Melbourne convent with the assistance of the Australian Red Cross.

belt was the target of a heavy British attack last week.)

Squadron after squadron of R. A. F. planes swarmed over northern France yesterday in the biggest daylight raids of the year and eight German fighters were reported destroyed in one fight alone, at the industrial center of Hazebrouck. The British announced the loss of five of their own fighters.

In the combat over Hazebrouck, the R. A. F.'s ace squadron leader, Paddy Finucane, just out of the hospital with wound stripes, led the attack, destroying two German planes, to increase his total for the war to 26.

Other bombers and fighters made daylight assaults on the Boulogne and Calais coastal areas and reconnaisance planes scouted the Paris industrial region.

The assault was continued last night and the coast from Boulogne to Ostend was alight with exploding bombs and anti-aircraft gun flashes. Clusters of searchlight batteries fingered the sky above Cap Gris Nez.

It was apparent that the R. A. F. was translating into action the words of Sir Archibald Sinclair, Secretary for Air, who declared last month:

"We must take Germany by the throat and shake the strength out of her; we must start not in 1944 or 1943, but in 1942."

"Various Places in West Germany Attacked," Germans Admit.

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts) March 14 (AP).—Some casualties among the civilian population were caused last night in a British air raid on Cologne, the German high command said today.

It reported "various places in Western German and particularly residential districts in' Cologne" were bombed.

One British bomber was shot down over Western Germany and eight British planes were downed by Nazi fighters over the English Channel and occupied territories, the high command said.

Reclaimed Rubber for Heels.

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP).—Although use of new rubber in rubber heels has been barred, reclaimed rubber still may be used for that purpose, and is available, the War Production Board said yesterday. The board said dealers and suppliers had reported a run on rubber heels because of a report that manufacture had been forbidden. The board's conservation order covered only crude rubber, it was stated.

WAVELL TO BASE INDIA STRATEGY ON MOBILITY, ATTACK

General Says Fast-Striking Land and Air Units Are Planned — Cites Soviet Threat to Japan.

NEW DELHI, India, March 14 (AP).—Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell disclosed last night his plans for defending Eastern India with mobile ground forces and a hard-striking air arm capable of both defense and attack, and dropped the significant hint that Soviet Russia remains "a pistol pointed at the heart" of Japan.

Now general officer commanding both India and Burma, Wavell outlined in broad detail his problems, tasks and hopes at a press conference.

He termed the defense of India a problem "of very close co-operation between the three services and of treating it as such;" of building up a strong air force in Northeast India which will not content itself with defense "but will attack the enemy and will be one of our principal means of safeguarding India."

New Airdromes are being built and the present air strength is being reinforced constantly, Wavell said, and regular naval forces are being augmented by armed flotillas of vessels requisitioned from civilian uses.

Preparing for Sea Thrust.

"Every preparation is being made to meet the threat of a seaborne Japanese expedition," he added.

"On land it obviously is impossible to construct beach defenses as has been done in England. It is our intention to meet the possibility of invasion by mobility and attack and not by attempting to hold defensive lines.

"The defense of India will be based mainly on holding within striking distance of threatened points mobile reserves which can move to meet and attack the enemy. Defenses are being prepared at important communications centers and river crossings to serve as points of maneuvers for these forces—to give them a rapidity and security of movement which will be denied to the enemy."

Difficulties of the Enemy.

He continued:

"When a military position looks serious and difficult, the best tonic is to consider the difficulties of the enemy. There is no possible doubt of the difficulties and dangers under which Japan is suffering.

"She is operating on an enormous front and at a considerable distance from home. Besides, she always has to consider the danger from Manchuria, where the Russian position is like a pistol pointed at the heart of her home country.

"Her supplies of essential war materials are limited to her manufacturing capacity. Possible replacements for losses in aircraft, of which she already has lost considerable numbers, are comparatively small; certainly very small when compared with the resources of her enemies.

"Same Story."

Wavell said "much the same story" was true of the campaign in Burma so far as of the lost battle of Malaya and Singapore.

"We were not sufficiently prepared," he said. "Reinforcements arrived too late and they were not trained sufficiently."

In the East Indies, he said, "we were always behind the clock, and we lost that race against time by some four or five weeks."

As for the next move by the Japanese, he said "they have a wide choice of objectives ranging from Hawaii and Australia to Manchuria, Burma, China and Ceylon."

He also raised the possibility of a Japanese attack on Russia, asserting:

"From the Japanese point of view, Russia is a danger close to home which she might, if she thought herself strong enough, decide to remove at once. But there is also the danger, from Japan's standpoint, of air attacks from Russia if she stirred up that country.

"The Japanese will not attack Russia unless they feel thoroughly certain of quick and easy success."

Russia's Position.

He expressed the opinion that Russia, as long as it was engaged against Germany, would not move against Japan unless it was "actually attacked or thought it was going to be attacked."

Wavell said every effort is being made to establish new communication lines with British forces in Burma which virtually were cut off from India's arsenals through the loss of Rangoon and a large part of Lower Burma—blows more grave, in some respects, than the fall of Singapore.

"It brings the war much closer to India," he said, "and threatens our communications with our Chinese ally."

Ohio Chemical Plant Burns.

GETTYSBURG, O., March 14 (AP).—Fire destroyed today the plant of Central Chemical Corporation of Pennsylvania, along with hundreds of tons of fertilizer, feed, seed and chemicals used to spray fruits. Firemen estimated the damage at $75,000 to $100,000.

U. S. WIDE OPEN IF AUSTRALIA FALLS TO JAPS, CURTIN SAYS

CANBERRA, March 14 (AP).—A warning that the Americas would be "wide open" if Japan conquers Australia and a plea for the closest co-operation with Australia were broadcast directly to the people of the United States today by Prime Minister John Curtin.

Lashing at speculation that the Japanese might pass up Australia and that they could be met and routed in India, he asserted:

"I say to you that saving Australia is saving America's West Coast. If you believe anything to the contrary you delude yourselves."

Curtin in his broadcast said Australians had looked to America for "counsel and advice."

Hints at Hitch in Co-operation.

"It is a matter of some regret to us," he continued, "that even now, after 95 days of Japan's staggering advance south and ever south, we have not obtained first hand contact with America.

"Therefore, we propose sending to you our Minister for External Affairs, Dr. H. V. Evatt . . . so we may benefit from his discussions with your authorities."

Evatt, also Attorney General, was chosen recently to go to Washington after Australian and New Zealand officials conferred on war strategy.

Curtin said the fact Britain had a paramount obligation to supply all possible help to Russia and could not at the same time go all out in the Pacific, placed a heavy responsibility on Australians, but asserted:

"I pledge you my word: We will not fail. You, as I have said, must be our leader; we will pull knee to knee with you for every ounce of our weight.

"We looked to America among other things for counsel and advice and, therefore, it was our wish that the Pacific War Council should be located at Washington. It is a matter of some regret to us that, even now, after 95 days of Japan's staggering advance south, ever south, we have not obtained first-hand contact with America.

"Therefore, we propose sending to you our Minister for External Affairs, Dr. H. V. Evatt, who is not a stranger to your country, so we may benefit from his discussion with your authorities. Dr. Evatt's wife, who will accompany him, was born in the United States.

Australians at War.

"We are then committed heart and soul to total warfare.

"We have no qualms. Here there is no fifth column. In this country we are all one English-speaking race. We will not yield easily a yard of our soil. We have great space here and, tree by tree, village by village and town by town we will fall back if we must.

"That will occur only if we lack the means of meeting the enemy with a parity in materials and machines.

"Our fighting forces are born attackers. We will hit the enemy wherever we can as often as we can and the extent of it will be measured only by weapons to our hands . . .

"We fight with what we have, and what we have is our all. We fight for the same free institutions that you enjoy. We fight so that, in the words of Lincoln, 'Government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.'

"Our legislature is elected the same as is yours and we will fight for it and for the right to have it, just as you will fight to keep the capitol at Washington a meeting place of freely-elected men and women representatives of a free people.

"Australia is a nation stripped for war.

"Our minds are set on attack, rather than defense. We believe in the fact that attack is the best defense here in the Pacific. It is the only defense we know. It means risks, but safety first is the devil's catchword today."

ROME SAYS TROOPSHIP QUEEN MARY WAS HIT

'10,000 North American Soldiers Aboard'—No Confirmation of Radio Story.

ROME (From Italian broadcasts), March 14 (AP).—The Italian radio quoted "Argentine maritime circles" today as saying the great British liner Queen Mary had been torpedoed and badly damaged several days ago shortly after leaving Rio de Janeiro with 10,000 "North American" soldiers aboard.

The radio declared the Queen Mary was "attempting to reach the British base in the Falkland Islands."

(The Navy Department in Washington said it had no information or comment with respect to the Italian broadcast.

(Axis nations frequently broadcast claims of this nature in efforts to obtain information concerning movements of ships or troops.)

The text of the Italian broadcast, as transcribed in New York:

"It is reported in Argentine naval circles that the British trans-Atlantic liner Queen Mary, which several days ago left Rio de Janeiro for an unknown destination with 10,000 North American soldiers on board, was torpedoed. The vessel, seriously damaged, was said to be attempting to reach the British base in the Falkland Islands."

RUSSIANS REPORT 14,000 GERMANS KILLED IN POCKET

Also Claim Recapture of 84 Towns in Staraya Russa Area and Kalinin Sector.

MOSCOW, March 14 (AP).—Red Army troops have killed 14,000 Germans on the northwest front alone in 15 days of general offensive operations and sporadic Nazi counterattacks yesterday were costly and vain, the Russians said today.

The zone of action was unofficially identified as the Staraya Russa sector below Lake Ilmen, south of Leningrad, where the Sixteenth German Army has been reported encircled for a month. It is a part of the combat area known also as the Kalinin front.

Many Towns Reported Taken.

Eighty-four communities were retaken during the 15-day period, said a special announcement last night reporting the heavy German losses. Today's noon communique said six more populated points had been liberated on the northwest front.

The special announcement said the latest recorded toll was inflicted on the invaders between Feb. 22 and March 10. It followed by two days another special communique telling of the killing of 49,700 Germans on the Kalinin front from Feb. 8 to March 5.

The midday communique asserted the Red Army in some sectors of the southwestern front inflicted severe losses on the enemy. Ski troops were said to have killed 1500 Germnas in one sector.

Gains on Central Front.

(In London, a military commentator said the neck of the sack the Russians are drawing around the Germans in the Rzhev-Vyazma area on the central front is growing steadily narrower. A Stockholm report said the Nazi areaway of reinforcement or retreat had been cut to 20 miles.)

The special announcement on the northwestern front operations reported vast quantities of booty fell into the hands of the Soviet forces, and 91 German planes—including 60 big three-engined transports used in a vain effort to reinforce the encircled army in the Staraya Russa area—were declared destroyed.

Listed as captured were 238 horses, two railway locomotives and 14 cars loaded with equipment, 2500 assorted guns, 14 tanks, more than 800 motor vehicles and 22 fuel and provision dumps.

ATTACKS IN CRIMEA REPULSED, NAZIS SAY

BERLIN (from German broadcasts), March 14 (AP).—Russian attacks on the German and Rumanian positions in the Kerch Peninsula of the Crimea, strongly supported by tanks and planes, have been hurled back with heavy losses to the Reds, the high command announced today.

The action precipitated hard fighting, the communique added. Forty-six Soviet tanks were reported destroyed.

The Russian air force lost 17 planes in air battles yesterday without loss to the German air force, the communique said. Between March 6 and 12, it asserted, the Russians lost 209 planes, against nine for the Nazis.

ATTACK ON TANKER DISCLOSED IN CUBA

This May Duplicate Navy Report—Increases in Insurance Charges Substantial.

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP).—The Navy said today a small United States freighter had been torpedoed off the Atlantic Coast.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 14 (AP).—A series of sharp explosions which police said "shook the beach front" were heard off the coast early today.

The explosions occurred between 2 and 2:30 o'clock.

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP).—Two, possibly three, more merchant ships have been torpedoed, and marine underwriters have increased war risk insurance rates for Atlantic coastal cargoes "as a direct result of the continued submarine menace in these waters."

The Navy announced the torpedoing of a small Norwegian merchant ship off the Delaware-Maryland coast and a small United States merchant ship in the Caribbean area. The captain of the Norwegian vessel was killed and five men are missing. Fourteen survivors reached shore.

The torpedoing of the 7005-ton United States freighter Texan was announced at Havana. Nine of the Texan's crew of 47 are missing. It is not known whether the Texan was the small United States merchant ship referred to by the Navy as torpedoed in the Caribbean area.

An enemy submarine attacked Castries Harbor on St. Lucia, British West Indies, Monday night, damaging two ships and causing slight casualties, the British announced. The harbor is a considerable distance from the United States outpost on the island.

War risk rates on shipments between the West Indies and the north coast of South America and east coasts of Mexico, Central America and the United States were increased from $2.50 per $100 to $4 for tankers and from $2 to $3.50 on other vessels.

Underwriters made comparable substantial increases in rates on shipments between the Gulf and West Indies and north coast South American ports and on other routes involving Atlantic Coast courses. The rate on tanker cargoes in the Pacific was moved up from 50 cents to $1 per $100.

Submarine Fired 4 Torpedoes to Sink British Tanker.

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP).—The submarine which sank the 8455-ton British tanker La Cariere on Feb. 25 wasn't good but it was persistent, surviving members of the tanker's crew said yesterday in relating how the enemy craft made three attacks and used four torpedoes before their ship went down.

Six men told the story at the British Merchant Navy Club under the direction of the British Press service. They were among the 25 rescued of a crew of 41.

Third Officer William Baillie said the first attack came at 7:30 a. m. Feb. 24, two torpedoes striking the tanker. Damaged but afloat and able to make headway, the tanker headed for Puerto Rico.

At 11:10 p. m., Baillie related, another torpedo swept past within 10 feet of the stern of the crippled ship.

"We opened fire at an object in the water, which apparently was a submarine," Baillie said. "It was about 300 yards away. It was low slung, with a long conning tower. None of us knew what the nationality was but some of the men thought it may have been an Italian or French submarine. After we fired the submarine submerged."

At 2 a. m. the next morning the submarine was successful.

Two more torpedoes struck the ship and cut the bow off. The tanker sank within two or three minutes. Two lifeboats were blown from their davits by the final blast but by a lucky chance the jolly-boat was blown into the sea right-side-up.

Twenty seamen managed to get aboard the remaining lifeboat, two got into the floating jolly-boat and two on a life raft.

Baillie said he swam for 10 minutes to reach the raft. With him was Cecil Woods, a seaman.

"I and Woods saw the jolly-boat at about 5 a. m.," he related. "It then contained two men. We transferred our provisions to it from our raft and got in." The chief engineer died in the boat, Baillie said, and the survivors reached Guanica, Puerto Rico, at 3 p. m. that day.

Capt. Robert Cairnes, 69-year-old master of the tanker, was rescued by a Coast Guard cutter after clinging to a floating piece of wood for 72 hours.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, March (AP).—Fifty-six of probably a total of 67 crew and passengers of a small United States mer- chant ship torpedoed and sunk on March 6 have reached Haitian and Cuban ports, it was confirmed here today.

Some survivors were rescued after three days in the water. A naval vessel picked up two others after five days on an improvised raft without food or water.

Three of the passengers were women and the others were de- fense workers en route to Puerto Rico.

The two rescued by a naval vessel told of escaping from burn- ing oil on the water following the ship's topdedoing. One said that it was certain that the submarine sent incendiary shells into the vessel, after torpedoing it, in order to set it on fire.

One passenger became insane after three days and slipped off the raft.

Thirty-four members of the crew of a Norwegian tanker also ar- rived here. They were picked up by the Navy after 60 hours in lifeboats. One lifeboat with seven crew members from the Nor- wegian ship is still missing

THREE ARE KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS IN VICINITY OF CITY

Pedestrian, 84, Struck in Ferguson — Baby and Man Perish in Illinois Crashes.

Three persons were killed in automobile accidents in the vicinity of St. Louis yesterday and last night.

Kasrail Harris, 84 years old, was killed at 10:30 o'clock last night when struck by an automobile while walking on Florissant road near his home at Calverton and Florissant roads, Ferguson.

The driver, Paul Pierce, a clerk, 2 South Court avenue, Ferguson, said he swerved to avoid striking Harris but Harris walked into the path of his car. Pierce took Har- ris to a physician's office, where he died within five minutes.

Baby Killed near Greenville.

Joyce, year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Spears, 1925 North Seventeenth street, East St. Louis, was killed yesterday when the automobile driven by her father collided head on with a light truck on Illinois Highway 127 near Greenville.

Mrs. Spears suffered a fractured wrist and her sister, Miss Lola Stoute, a broken pelvis. Spears, his two sons and another passen- ger, John Eden of Fillmore, Ill., were slightly injured. The truck driver, Willard Huss of Greenville, was unhurt.

Crash Near Alton.

Harry Schreier, 20, an employe of Western Cartridge Co. living in Bethalto, Ill., was killed yesterday when the automobile he was driv- ing east on alternate United States Highway 67 collided with a westbound machine just outside the Alton city limits.

Roy Sitze of Bethalto, a passen- ger in Schrier's car, suffered a fractured elbow. The other driv- er, Walter Moody of Alton, for- mer superintendent of the Illinois State Highway Patrol and now special agent for Illinois Terminal Railroad Co., suffered internal in- juries.

Gardenville Woman Struck by Auto on Gravois.

Mrs. Margaret Skiljan, 4756 Old- enburg avenue, Gardenville, is in St. Louis County Hospital with a skull fracture suffered last night when she was struck by an auto- mobile while walking on Gravois road near Oldenburg.

The driver, Elmer May, 4738 Old- enburg, said he did not see Mrs. Skiljan in time to avoid striking her.

Summing up, Ploeser said:

"Now we have a situation where it is being recommended to the President that he appoint this man, and it is understood by the good citizens of St. Louis and the newspapers and the rest of us who are interested in decent Gov- ernment in St. Louis that the President is about to appoint Robert E. Hannegan, who was chairman of this vote-stealing and vote-padding machine, who in his own home was caught with padded registrations, and who was the ringleader of the group that tried to steal the governorship, to the $7000 post of Collector of In- ternal Revenue.

"I understand that our illus- trious Senators are approving this appointment. I bring this matter onto the floor of the House in the hope that in some manner my feeble voice may penetrate these walls and reach into the other body with such appeal to these dis- tinguished Senators from Mis- souri that they change their opin- ion and not foist this great public affront onto the people of the city of St. Louis.

"Insult to Voters."

"This is directly an insult to the intelligence of the voters of St. Louis. They have just recently discredited this entire gang, and now we are to understand that the Federal Government is to give them fat political plums for their services in the past. Surely the Democratic party must have some decent and capable citizens who would be eligible for such appoint- ments.

"I cannot see anything else but what the civil service in the In- ternal Revenue Bureau of St. Louis would be in direct jeopardy if we appointed a man such as this to head that department. I am hopeful that the citizens of St. Louis, should this appointment go through, will rise in righteous wrath and denounce everyone who has anything to do with it."

Introducing the St. Louis Star- Times editorial, Ploeser pointed out that that paper, while not fully agreeing with the Post-Dispatch, still agreed that "this is no time, nor is any other period of good government a time, for picking up broken-down political hacks who have been discredited by the people and putting them on the Federal payroll." The Star-Times editorial was headed: "The Hannegan Issue in Perspective."

Post-Dispatch Article.

The Post-Dispatch article, Ploes- er told the House, noted that "one of the curious inconsistencies of life in democratic America is the blind and unreasoning loyalty to party which so frequently takes precedence over loyalty to the pub- lic interest and, in many instances, loyalty to public decency." He continued:

"It (the article) also points out that immediately after the citizens of St. Louis had discredited this machine in the mayoralty election in which they elected our present very able Mayor, Mr. William Dee Becker, the Office of Civilian De- fense picked up the discredited and defeated Mayor, Bernard Dick- mann, and put him in a $6500 job with the dancers and fancy pool- shot artists and the bowling ex- perts and the various other social service workers of the Office of Civilian Defense.

"For a great part of his stay at OCD, St. Louis believed him to be a dollar-a-year man. It was not revealed that he was on a salary of $6500 a year, until this very House of Representatives exposed him. Then he went out of the $6500 job and into a job that paid $22 a day, I believe, for expenses."

Representative J. William Ditter (Rep.), Pennsylvania, interrupted Ploeser to inquire whether Dick- mann had had charge of any of the ping-pong work of the OCD.

Ploeser replied that he did not believe Dickmann had, and that he did not know his ability in the line of ping-pong.

"That's a pretty fast game," Dit- ter said.

By speaking to the House on the attempt to reward Hanne- gan and by inserting much of the Post-Dispatch article in the Con- gressional Record, Ploeser has brought the Hannegan episode to the attention of all Senators and Representatives and the top offi- cials in the executive department who read the Congressional Record.

ADMITS PRINTING 70 BOGUS CHECKS OF ST. LOUIS FIRM

Centralia (Ill.) Printer Arrested There—Two Other Men Held Here Say They Cashed 40.

Emil Schenk, a Centralia (Ill.) printer, was arrested there today and brought to St. Louis after he admitted printing more than 70 spurious Fruco Contruction Co. payroll checks, 40 of which were admittedly passed by two men al- ready under arrest here.

One of the two previously ar- rested, John Wilson Rymer, 44- year-old former convict, told po- lice he obtained more than $3000 from the checks, which he divided with the other man, Marsh C. Miller, 31, Rolla (Mo.), mechanic.

Schenk told a Post-Dispatch re- porter he had printed imitation Fruco checks on two occasions for Miller. Miller told police he had arranged for their purchase, but said Rymer was the one who had cashed them.

Schenk, 52, was arrested this morning at his commercial print- ing shop as he handed over to City Detective Lester Canning 30 Fruco checks and six fraudulent draft registration cards which Canning, using a fictitious name, had purchased the night before.

Told a warrant charging second degree forgery was on file against him in St. Louis, Schenk waived extradition. He was brought back by Canning, Detective Hilbert Hungate, Sergt. Timothy Moloney and a Federal Bureau of Investi- gation agent.

To get Schenk to agree to print the checks, Canning said, he con- vinced the printer that he was trying to escape police. The pur- chase price was $75, which was marked and recovered at the time of the arrest.

No warrants have been issued yet against Rymer, formerly of Sul- livan, Mo., or Miller, who formerly lived in St. Louis. Five other wom- en and two men, arrested in the course of the police investigation, are also held, without charge.

Detective Canning said the checks which Schenk printed for him bore minute changes in de- sign to coincide with alterations made by the Fruco company after it learned last December that bogus vouchers were in circula- tion. The spurious plate was con- fiscated.

DELAY IN SUGAR RATIONING UNTIL APRIL INDICATED

Amount to Be Allowed Each Individual Per Week Not Yet Decided.

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP). —Sugar rationing probably will not become effective until some time next month, the Office of Price Administration indicated to- day.

Details of the program still must be worked out, officials said, and a decision to put industrial allot- ments on an individual basis will require additional time. Originally it was proposed to make a flat re- duction in the amount of sugar used by various industries.

The weekly amount of sugar to be allowed each domestic consum- er and the final dates for consum- er registrations have not been de- cided. The OPA said the weekly individual ration probably would be eight or 12 ounces, depending on the amount of sugar made available for distribution by the War Production Board.

DIRECTOR CUTS NEW CITY BUDGET TO $21,521,000

Schubkegel Submits Proposal to Board Calling for $204,000 Less Than Spent in Last Year.

A budget of $21,521,686 for the 1942-43 fiscal year, or $204,098 less than the amount spent by all city departments in the closing fiscal year, was submitted to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment yesterday by Budget Director Er- win G. Schubkegel.

Department heads had requested $24,025,863, but their requests were "cut to the bone," the Mayor said, resulting in the shearing of $2,- 503,977 from the total appropria- tion sought. At the same time the Mayor repeated that new sources of city income must be found.

Largest cut was in the Depart- ment of Public Welfare, headed by former Gov. Henry S. Caulfield. Caulfield's request for $7,060,518 was sliced to $5,530,521, a decrease of $1,529,996, or $112,894 less than the amount spent in the depart- ment in the closing fiscal year.

Other Reductions.

Other departmental requests substantially reduced by the Budg- et Director included the Depart- ment of Public Safety, from $3,- 254,123 to $2,957,116; the Depart- ment of Streets and Sewers, from $2,106,887 to 1,823,427; the Depart- ment of Public Utilities, from $1, 858,263 to $1,599,080, and miscel- laneous offices, from $2,354,063 to $2,252,393.

The budget report did not in- clude a statement of estimated receipts. "This will be furnished," Schubkegel said in the report, "as soon as the certificate of assessed valuation is received from the Assessor, and after the completion of the annual settlement with the Tax Collector, which is now in progress."

All departmental requests for automobiles and trucks were held in abeyance in drafting the bud- get, he said, because of the freez- ing by the Government of the sale of motor vehicles. This is being done, he said, "until it can be determined to what extent, and for what departments, permission can be obtained for such purchases."

Mayor Cites "Tough" Problem.

When the first public hearing on the new budget was opened yesterday afternoon in the Board of Public Service room, the Board of Estimate announced to the few persons gathered there that the budget figures were not yet ready. Only person to speak was the Mayor, who said the city faces a "tough" problem in raising addi- tional revenue, and cited tax losses to the city in recent years.

As drafted, the budget for 1942- 43 contains no appropriation for the new Civil Service Commis- sion, but Deputy Comptroller Charles L. Cunningham explained that the commission and the Board of Estimate have not yet completed work on this phase of the budget.

The amount, which Cunningham estimated would be around $56,000, is fixed by the new civil service charter amendment at one-half of 1 per cent of the classified person- nel payroll of the preceding fiscal year.

AMMUNITION PLANT WALKOUT BY 25 A F L MEN SHORT-LIVED

Members of Buck Newell's Local Left Jobs in Protest Over Firing, Returned Next Day.

Twenty-five of 29 AFL hoisting engineers on a night shift at the small arms ammunition plant, members of Buck Newell's Local No. 513, left the job Thursday eve- ning in protest over dismissal of a fellow-workman but reported for work yesterday afternoon, the Post-Dispatch learned today.

J. R. Marshall, personnel direc- tor for the Fruco Construction Co., said the matter was "all straight- ened out" at a conference with Newell yesterday. The four engi- neers employed at the boiler house remained on duty Thursday night, he said, permitting production to go on. There was no interfer- ence with construction, he added, partly because it was raining and partly because most of the 25 were maintenance men whose services were not vital at the moment.

Marshall said the man dismissed was fired for "abuse of equip- ment." The 25, on a shift from 5 p. m. to 3 a. m., left about 6:45 p. m., he said.

Row With Neighbor Among Woman Bookie's Troubles

Dispute Over Exhaust Fan and Restaurant Man's Nailing Up of Secret Exit Taken to Prosecutor.

Mrs. Fanny Fishman's patience is exhausted. In the first place, her handbook is shut down, with others in the downtown district, because of the raids. But that isn't all. There is that exhaust fan at the restaurant next door. It blows grease all over the clean windows of her cigar shop and drives the customers away—the cigar custom- ers.

Then there's that secret door in the basement partition, inclosing the room where race track follow- ers were wont to congregate. What happens when she takes out the panel? The restaurant man nails boards across on his side of the partition.

The restaurant man, Peter Da- mos, isn't happy about the situa- tion either. He says Mrs. Fishman has an exhaust fan, too. One that blows smoke out of her smoke shop and into his restaurant. Fur- thermore, he doesn't want any of Mrs. Fishman's customers—cigar customers or bettors—traipsing through a secret door and into his basement.

Mrs. Fishman, whose cigar store is at 501 North Ninth street, and Damos, whose restaurant is at 503, took her complaint to Prosecuting Attorney James P. Finnegan. Damos thinks he has a complaint to make, too. Finnegan referred the matter to the Health De- partment.

The only handbook raid yester- day was one on a third-floor apart- ment at 4009 Lindell boulevard, where Patrolman Arnold Matthews had to shinny up a drain pipe from the second floor to a third-floor window.

Detective Sergt. Harry Fender of the gambling squad had taken his men to the apartment, but they were refused admittance. Matthews found two men beside a telephone in the third-floor apartment and arrested them. Betting tabs, rac- ing forms and the furniture were confiscated.

The men arrested said they were Harry J. Bates, 738 DeMun avenue, and Leslie M. Brophy, 5354 North- land avenue.

SUNDAY G. M. JOBS AT DOUBLE TIME, UMPIRE ORDERS

Asserts He Lacks Power to Modify Pay Provision in Contract Expiring April 28.

DETROIT, March 14 (AP).— War production workers in General Motors Corporation plants covered by a labor agreement with the Automobile Workers (CIO) must be paid double time on Sundays and holidays on swing shifts, a la- bor umpire has ruled.

G. Allen Dash Jr., permanent umpire for the corporation and the union, held late yesterday that the contract, which expires April 28, calls for payment of double time for Sunday and holiday work un- less that work was specifically ex- cepted "from the technical nature of the process involved."

"If the umpire should rule that the urgencies of the war situation require an extension of the ex- cepted operations of those engaged on swing shifts on war produc- tion, he would be rewriting a part of the agreement," Dash said.

He added that he was "granted no latitude to consider the equities of the situation" and could not modify or interpret provisions of the contract "in the light of changed circumstances."

General Motors, which had con- tended that the swing shift was a "necessary seven-day operation" and thus came under the agree- ment's exception clause, had agreed beforehand to abide by Dash's rul- ing.

The War Labor Board, to which the dispute at first had been re- ferred, refused to assume jurisdic- tion because, it said, the corpora- tion and union had not exhausted all mediation machinery provided in the agreement.

Under the umpire's decision, the double time provision will apply until termination of the agreement and will be retroactive to the start of swing shifts. Some plants placed the swing shift in operation last January.

DONNELL, M'KITTRICK OFFER AID IN SIKESTON INQUIRY

Letter to Biddle Expresses Interest in Possibility of Federal Prosecutions.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 14 (AP).—Gov. Forrest C. Donnell and Attorney General Roy Mc- Kittrick offered the Department of Justice their "full co-opera- tion" today in any Federal prose- cutions growing out of the Sikes- ton lynching of Cleo Wright, a Negro.

They wrote Attorney General Biddle they were "very much in- terested in the possibility of pro- ceedings based on possible viola- tion of Federal statutes" by the lynchers.

Their letter resulted from a long conference between them and McKittrick's assistant, Harry Kay, who represented the State at the two-day Scott County grand jury investigation of the lynching this week. The grand jury returned no indictments.

4,150,000 REPORTED IDLE IN JANUARY, INCREASE OF 1,000,000 DURING MONTH

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP).

THE number of unemployed increased 1,000,000 in Janu- ary and brought the total for that month to 4,150,000, the National Industrial Conference Board said today. In January a year ago 8,026,000 were unem- ployed, it added.

The board estimated 300,000 to 500,000 persons were laid off during the month because of plant conversion or curtailment due to war production needs.

The only employment up- swing in January, according to the board, was in agricultural occupations, which absorbed 275,000 workers.

"Unemployment insurance benefits, which had already be- gun to turn upward in Decem- ber, were increased sharply in January," the board said. "The various unemployment compen- sation agencies paid out $41,- 000,000 in benefits covering 4,500,000 man weeks of idle- ness."

INCOME TAX OFFICES HERE ARE THRONGED

Next-to-Last Day for Filing Without Penalty—Rules on Mail Returns.

Income tax offices, Federal and state, were thronged with tax- payers today, the next to last day for filing returns without penalty. The usual deadline is March 15, but because this year that date falls on Sunday, the last day for filing is Monday.

For those who mail in returns, however, the situation is inter- preted variously in the several offices. Federal returns, and state returns filed with the St. Louis County Assessor, must bear postmarks before midnight Sun- day. The St. Louis Assessor will accept without penalty state re- turns which bear a postmark be- fore midnight Monday.

The Collector's office in the Fed- eral Building, and the special Federal income tax office in Mu- nicipal Auditorium were to be open this afternoon until 4 o'clock, and on Monday will remain open until 5 o'clock. The auditorium office is for those who require as- sistance in filling out returns. Re- turns prepared by the taxpayer are accepted at the Federal Build- ing office.

The Assessor's office in City Hall was to close today at 4:30 o'clock and Monday at 5:30 o'clock. In the county the Asses- sor's office will close at 5 o'clock on both days.

Federal taxpayers must pay at least one-fourth of their bill when their returns are filed. The bal- ance may be paid in quarterly in- stallments. The State tax is not due until June 1. It, too, may be paid in installments.

More than 150,000 Federal re- turns on which a tax was due have been filed in the office for this district, which includes East- ern Missouri. Collections, it is es- timated, are about three times the amount of a year ago. Of re- turns filed before today about 60 per cent were accompanied by full payment of the tax due.

MOTION TO PERMIT REDUCING BOEHM'S SENTENCE DENIED

Appeals Court Grants Him Until May 4 to Begin Serving Prison Term for Perjury.

A motion to pave the way for reduction of the five-year peni- tentiary sentence of Frank J. Boehm, former executive vice- president of Union Electric Co. of Missouri, was denied today by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit, sitting at Kansas City.

The court granted an exten- sion of 30 days, or until May 4, for Boehm to surrender to begin serving his sentence, which is for perjury in connection with the Securities and Exchange Commission's investigation of the $591,000 Union Electric Co. slush fund.

The motion which the court de- nied would have authorized mod- ification of Boehm's sentence by United States District Judge George H. Moore, who presided at the trial and fixed the penalty. Boehm's conviction has been up- held by the Circuit Court of Ap- peals and a review has been de- nied by the United States Su- preme Court.

An application for probation probably will be filed in Boehm's behalf by his attorney, John S. Leahy, in view of Boehm's testi- mony for the Government in the recent trial which resulted in conviction of Union Electric Co. and Louis H. Egan, its former president, on charges growing out of the slush fund practices. Un- der probation, the prison term would stand but would be sus- pended as long as the conditions of probation were observed.

The penalty in Boehm's case in- cludes a fine of $4000 in addition to the prison sentence.

62 TONS OF SCRAP GATHERED FROM NORTH PART OF COUNTY

Collection Brings Total Turned In in Three-day Drive to 332 Tons.

Farmers of northern St. Louis County took 62 tons of scrap metal yesterday to a collection depot established at the E. R. Goddard & Co. implement store, Robertson, making a total of 332 tons collected in the county in a three-day drive which began Wednesday.

Each farmer received a receipt for the metal he contributed and will be paid for it when the scrap has been sold to dealers.

George W. Grueninger, chair- man of the St. Louis County De- partment of Agriculture War Board, who had expressed the hope at the start of the campaign that 150 tons would be collected, said many farmers in all parts of the county were planning to take additional scrap to the three col- lection points.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

That Sikeston Whitewash.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE Scott County grand jury has just whitewashed the lynching at Sikeston, Mo. The Judge and the jury say it was their "own affair." The jury says it cannot find any evidence. The officers of the law say they do not recognize a single person among the 300 who witnessed the lynch-burning of Cleo Wright.

This verdict is an insult to all Americans, white and Negro alike. The lynchers, Judge and jury are helping Hitler, whose radio tells the millions in Asia, Africa and South America "this is what the darker races will get if the democracies win." We cannot win this war if we permit Hitlerite tactics to divide our country. Our attitude toward the rights of Negro citizens will determine the attitude of millions of colonial peoples toward our war effort.

This is one of the reasons why all sectional prejudices must be laid aside. The cause of the nation is above everything else. That is why every white American must consider the problem of the Negro people his problems also. Those who think the problem of Negro rights is for the Negro people to solve alone are not only dividing the nation, but are also playing into the hands of Hitler and his Japanese henchmen.

All Americans should know that safety of our country demands that we act now to resolve this question. If it is not possible to do so through State machinery, then it must be done through an appeal to the Federal Government.

HELEN MUSIL,
City Secretary,
St. Louis Communist Party.

Suggests Honors for Lieut. O'Hare.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I ASK that immediate action be taken toward recognition being granted to the native St. Louisan, Lieut. Edward J. O'Hare, who has rendered our country a service second to none. His heroic act placed the name of our good city before the world. I suggest that the city of St. Louis name a boulevard or highway in his honor and notify his superior officer of our action.

My thought would be to name the present Express Highway in his honor.

HARRY J. KIENER.

Pro and Con Hannegan's Appointment.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

AS long as elections under our system of government are between the candidates of two major political parties, such parties will assume the right to reward their prominent members with appointive public offices. I agree that this privilege should not be abused, but know that any independent investigation of Mr. Hannegan's ability would show only that he is a man of high capability, whose earning power is in excess of the salary he would receive from this office.

The game of politics as played in the United States is certainly not beyond reproach, yet this game will always be played as long as our democratic way of life prevails. SYLVAN AGATSTEIN.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE appointment of Ex-Boss Hannegan to the post of Collector of Internal Revenue on the recommendation of Senators Clark and Truman would probably mean political suicide for the Democratic party in Missouri and the perpetuation of the G. O. P. in power.

This course of action will eventually result in the election of two Republican successors to Clark and Truman when these respective Senators face the electorate for re-election. It was proved conclusively in the recent municipal election that the voters will not tolerate a candidate tainted by the Dickmann administration. HAZEN C. SMITH.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I WAS astonished at your suggestion that letters be sent to Secretary Morgenthau protesting the appointment of Robert E. Hannegan to the collectorship.

That is simply an invitation to Republicans and disgruntled Democrats to deluge Washington with letters and telegrams purporting to represent an aroused citizenry in St. Louis, when it would in fact be nothing more than an expression of political partisanship.

If Hannegan is not a competent and trustworthy man for the job, surely the officials in Washington have access to all the facts in the case and will be able to decide. LET'S BE HONEST.

Two-Pants Suits and Economy.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

MY husband has always bought two-pants suits for economy. Now, after about 40 years, he is disappointed to find he doesn't know anything about economy.

Wood River, Ill. MRS. H. M. L.

The Fifth Columnist in Our Midst.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE rat is one of the most dangerous fifth columnists we have to deal with. He is a destroyer of supplies and a bearer of death. But this is one fifth columnist we can begin to fight and destroy at once. Why not organize a division within our own St. Louis civilian defense to combat him?

We are organizing fire brigades and air-raid brigades for fires and air raids which are still in the future. Rats are not a future, but a present menace. If we are to fight the enemy on the home front, let civilian defense launch its first offensive against the rat.

A. M. M.

MR. LIPPMANN'S HINDSIGHT.

Walter Lippmann the other day devoted an article, entitled "Stop and Think," to weeping bitterly over spilt milk. He mourned for more than a column over that saddest of all sad things, what might have been. Hindsight told him just what had gone wrong in the Pacific, and his laments were eloquent.

The trouble was that the United Nations did nothing more than defend their possessions, Mr. Lippmann said. Their strategy was based on political rather than military considerations. If they had quickly abandoned indefensible points, he went on, they could have concentrated their forces at a vital spot and stopped the Japs.

Speculation on the "ifs" of history is a fascinating academic pursuit. Absorbing discussions can be spun in considering what might have happened if Lincoln had not been shot, if Napoleon had won at Waterloo, if the Arabs had been victorious at the Battle of Tours in 732 A. D. But to drag a discussion of current affairs into the realm of hypothetical history is a futile and misleading practice.

In this instance, it is to overlook the two major reasons for Japanese success to date: surprise attack and greater striking power than had been expected. The worst American defeat was at Pearl Harbor, and political considerations obviously had nothing to do with that.

The greatest British defeat was at Singapore, and the British were not defending a mere colonial possession, but a powerful naval base. Whatever the other causes for its loss, Japanese fighting prowess must be considered. It would be absurd to say dogmatically that Singapore could have been saved by transfer of the Hongkong and Burma garrisons.

As to uniting Allied forces in the Pacific, there is a practical reason why this could not have been done before Dec. 7, so far as the United States is concerned. Up to that date, the American policy, as expressed by the people, Congress and the President, was against going to war in the Pacific. Efforts to avert conflict with Japan were continuing even as the bombs fell on Pearl Harbor. Mr. Lippmann is aware of all this, but he uses smear words in mentioning it: "pacifist and isolationist sentiment."

Could such a move have been made after Dec. 7? Could Gen. MacArthur and his force have been transported, for instance, to Singapore? Considering the shortage of American air power, considering what the Japs did to the Prince of Wales and the Repulse, it would have been an extremely hazardous move. As it is, MacArthur's gallant stand on Bataan is tying up some 200,000 Japanese troops, and his forces have taken a considerable toll among them.

The Japanese onslaught came too swiftly and was too strong for any successful united stand to be possible. Both America and Britain were too deeply committed on other distant fronts of this global war to allow any great concentration of forces in the Pacific. They are still inadequately prepared, hence the present great drive for more production.

Mr. Lippmann complains we are frittering away our forces in the Pacific while neglecting a great opportunity to launch an offensive against Hitler in Europe. Obviously, this war cannot be won without carrying the war to the enemy. But until, in the judgment of our military leaders, such an offensive can be launched without inviting more disasters, a strategy of delaying and harassing the enemy is the only possible recourse.

As it is, every energy is being exerted to build up our forces to a point where an offensive can be launched in the Pacific, possibly also in Europe. But months are required to build the equipment, train the men and transport both to the scene of action. Critics like Wendell Willkie, who complains that protracted failure to take the offensive is "sickening" to him, are only sniping at the nation's military leaders and impairing public morale.

Mr. Lippmann's hindsight differs remarkably from his foresight, as expressed in articles written before the war. Last Nov. 10, for instance, he wrote:

> For the successful defense of the Pacific, there are needed two fleets—one operating from Hawaii with advanced bases at Manila and one from Singapore with advanced bases at Hongkong. Under these conditions, it is extremely uplikely that Japan would strike, and it is as certain as anything can be that if Japan struck, Japan would be defeated.

It is interesting that he talks about "defense" here, and says nothing about abandoning Hongkong, one of the points now proved by his hindsight to have been indefensible.

The country may as well face the facts: We were inadequately prepared when the war began, we have suffered grievous losses and we cannot take the offensive until we have the equipment and the men necessary to defeat our powerful enemies. But the recent statements of President Roosevelt, Secretary Knox, Gen. Marshall and Admiral King offer assurance that we will take the offensive in due time.

Mr. Lippmann's mournful venture into hindsight aids neither national security nor national morale. It merely raises doubts and suspicions and confusion. It is based, after all, on selected facts that are at best half-truths, and its conclusions can no more be proved than a psychologist's speculations on what might have happened if Hitler had been a successful instead of a frustrated artist.

It is vain to speculate on what might have happened in this war. We only know what did happen. And it is the national resolve to undo what happened in the Pacific, with full realization of what a difficult and prolonged job it is going to be.

VICTORY FOR KENNETT.

After more than eight years of litigation, the way seems clear at last for Kennett, Mo., to build a municipal electric light and power plant. The State Supreme Court yesterday dismissed a suit by the Arkansas-Missouri Power Corporation which sought to enjoin the sale of bonds for this purpose.

The action was based on what must seem to every layman a legal technicality. The company argued that the Kennett City Council had acted improperly when it authorized the Mayor and the City Clerk to register the bonds and to deliver them to a Kansas City brokerage firm.

This argument seems ridiculous on its face. Imagine a City Council going out in body to peddle a bond issue. But this, obviously, was just a last straw grasped by the company in its efforts to block the plan, since it was authorized by the voters of Kennett in the summer of 1933. In view of various suits in Federal and State courts, one does not need a ouija board to conclude that the company was interested not in administrative niceties, but in shutting out possible low-rate competition.

A power company, like anybody else, has the right to act in defense of its own business, but it can't expect much respect when it falls back on dilatory litigation to thwart the voters of a community. These people have rights, too, including that of going into the power and light business. Placed in the balance, their right may be a better one than the company's, since there are so many of them. Instead of attempting to block them in the courts, the company would have done far better had it sought to convince them it could provide better service at a cheaper rate.

MR. ROOSEVELT ON WAGE CEILINGS.

Belatedly, President Roosevelt hints his administration may have finally seen that a ceiling over wages, as well as over other important elements of the price structure, is essential to prevent inflation. Legislation to control wages, he said yesterday, is now being studied in Washington.

If this means that the administration's opposition to this vital measure is ended, it is really good news. For it was the hostility of Mr. Roosevelt's official family, as much as anything, which was responsible for the failure to include wages in the price-control bill recently enacted by Congress.

One administration spokesman after another derided the idea. Isador Lubin, Commissioner of Labor Statistics, asserted a wage ceiling was unnecessary. Leon Henderson, Price Administrator, insisted that voluntary agreements would be sufficient to keep wages within bounds and that a statutory ceiling would be impossible to administer.

Since then, the experience of Canada, which enacted a wage ceiling and made it stick, and a barrage of inflationary wage demands from organized labor, may have changed the administration's mind.

If so, better late than never. But the need for an over-all price-wage-rent ceiling was made abundantly clear months ago. Bernard Baruch, head of the War Industries Board in the First World War, testified to the necessity. The Foreign Policy Association confirmed that view. The Brookings Institution, independent research body spoke plainly.

"So long as wage rates remain uncontrolled," it said last September, "the most that can be expected in the control of prices . . . is to restrain somewhat the rate of advance."

Wages are an important factor in the price of all goods. The need for a roof over them, to supplement the roof on prices is more urgent than ever before.

AS TO "ENEMY MUSIC."

There is more than one fine painting in an American gallery because Adolf Hitler denounced it as modern decadent art and exiled it and its painter from the Third Reich. More than one good book was fed to a bonfire because Hitler so decreed. Only another Hitler would say that all these works of art had political significance, or that the creative impulse behind them in every case militated against even the twisted spirit of the Nazis. And it was our boast that in the democracies such things could not happen.

Imagine, then, Erika Mann, Nazi-exiled artist-daughter of Nazi-exiled Thomas Mann, hectoring Americans who would hear an orchestra play Strauss' "Don Quixote" or place the records on their phonograph turntables. She wrote to the New York Times that this is "enemy music," unfit, if not dangerous, for American ears.

That's tripe, Hitler tripe, and it is all the worse coming from a woman who professes to be opposed to everything Hitler represents. Deems Taylor has already rebuked her in one of his New York Philharmonic intermission talks. Whatever might be said of Strauss and his political inclinations, Mr. Taylor went brilliantly to the defense of his music. We want to second his opinion, even if belatedly, and to add one comment:

SPRING OFFENSIVE: WHOSE?

Ajax and Atlas must sigh with relief these days when they contemplate the program of spring activity worked out for Hitler and Mein Intuition by American news commentators, foreign observers and reliable sources from Ankara to New Delhi.

First, there's that long-awaited offensive in South Russia to gain Caucasian oil, which alone isn't going to appease the experts. With Soviet strokes toward the Baltic states in the North a direct threat to the Reich, the Central front far from stabilized and Timoshenko on a rampage in the Donets Basin, nothing short of a general Nazi assault from the White Sea to the Black will do.

Then there's the Afrika Korps. Gen. Rommel, with a new Field Marshal's baton, can't rusticate amid Libyan sand dunes forever. He is expected to smash through Egypt while a supporting pincers force knocks over Turkey and joins him at Suez. As for the rest of strategic Africa, a march through Spain and Gibraltar is called for, along with seizure of Dakar, the Azores and Cape Verde Islands.

Meanwhile, Admiral Raeder's fleet will have put to sea to take over Iceland, and a spare Nazi Army will be rushed into Sweden to head off any Soviet threat through sagging Finland. This neat distribution of pins over the map leaves one minor operation: Success of the Japanese in leaping from one Pacific island to another makes mandatory an all-out invasion of England across 20 miles of channel.

There it is, and Hitler and Mein Intuition by now must be the two most confused persons in Europe, especially since the Red Army's bold announcement that the spring offensive will be Russian—not German. Now if the other allies should decide on offensive rather than defensive action along several of the Nazi tangents, what a spring this could be!

THE 25-HOUR WEEK.

As long as they have brought up the subject, this seems like an appropriate time to see how many hours a week Congressmen themselves put in. Editorial Research Reports made a study of this interesting question during the first session of the Seventy-fifth Congress, a normally busy session.

It found that members of the House meet about five and a half days a week, while in Washington, and that these meetings last, on an average, four and a half hours. Members of the Senate aren't quite so industrious. While Congress is in session, they meet only about four and a half days a week for an average period of three and a half hours each.

This adds up on our abacus to not quite 25 hours a week for members of the House and a little less than 16 hours a week for Senators. Of course, additional time is spent in committee meetings and at their office desks. But there are also months in a row when Congress is adjourned and our Representatives and Senators can go play gin rummy or build their political fences. This last task, it is true, takes up a lot of their time, but that is personal business, not public service.

All in all, our statesmen seem in no imminent danger of wearing their pretty fingers to the bone.

THE NEW ORDER IN HONGKONG.

Settling the Lease-Lend Account

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Unless America is willing to accept imports, other nations cannot pay us off in cash, journal says; war is creating great economic problems which must be solved to prevent another debacle; believes America will have to underwrite vast expansion in world trade.

From Business Week.

IT was on March 11—just about a year ago—that Congress voted and President Roosevelt signed the Lease-Lend Act. The purpose of the law was, as the President put it, to get away from the dollar sign in extending military aid to the opponents of Hitlerism. And now, as if to honor the anniversary of the law, Acting Secretary of State Welles and British Ambassador Halifax have signed a supplementary document, setting forth the terms and conditions under which the United States and Great Britain will settle lease-lend accounts.

This new document provides clear-cut evidence—at least by inference—that American statesmen have come a long way from the last war. Then the nation's attitude on war debts was specific: "They hired the money, didn't they?" But by specifying that this country will not make demands which will "burden commerce between the two countries," the Welles-Halifax agreement actually suggests that Britain cannot be expected to pay for its war supplies.

For if other nations are to pay interest on their American obligations, they must sell us more goods and services than we sell to them. But the United States is a great export nation. We customarily sell abroad more goods and services than we purchase from other countries.

Therefore, if we want to collect after this war is over, we shall have to change our economic ways; we shall have to buy more from England and sell less. But such a reversal in established trade relationships is sure to put a burden on commerce between the two countries, and thus contravene the agreement. That fact the Welles-Halifax accord formally puts down on paper for the future Congressmen and statesmen to see.

* * *

But it goes further. The document renounciates the principles set forth in the Roosevelt-Churchill Atlantic Charter. Both the United States and Great Britain agree to promote international trade, reduce tariff barriers, eliminate discriminatory practices in international commerce and work for the expansion of production, employment and consumption of goods "which are the material foundations of the liberal welfare of all peoples."

Those declarations represent large undertakings. They sound fine on paper, and they would be ideal in practice. But can we put them into effect? In the middle of a war, with peace not yet in sight, it is easy to make promises. But what will happen when peace comes? Consider, for example, a few of the post-war problems—assuming, of course, that the United Nations win.

After the forced abstention of war, food and clothing will be wanted everywhere. More, industrial machinery—in Great Britain, Germany, Japan and even in this country—will be run down, will need repairs. And the United States, as the world's great industrial power, will be the major nation to fill these numerous wants. Will we do it? Will we accept the responsibility of trying to expand production, employment and consumption of goods everywhere?

Let's examine what that means. After the last war, American bankers financed European and South American purchases of goods in the United States. American investors were willing to buy Brazilian 7's and German 5's. But foreign bonds have been too sad and too recent an experience to be attractive after the war. Investors won't want them.

This implies then, that if this country is to reconstruct Europe and Asia, the Government will have to do it. We'll have to have a lease-lend law for peace.

Moreover, the war itself is fashioning a special type of economic problem. For instance, the United States is building a huge synthetic rubber industry. Does that mean we will cease buying rubber from our allies in autarchic self-sufficiency when the war is over? Or will we, in the interest of international trade, scrap our synthetic plants and throw American workers out of jobs in order to buy from the British and the Dutch?

Similarly, will we let the British and Dutch smelt tin instead of using our newly-built facilities in Texas? Will we return to silk from Japan for stockings instead of using our vastly expanded nylon capacity?

Another point: After the war, the United States will have unexampled capacity to produce machine tools and machinery. Will we export that machinery to less industrialized countries—China, India, Latin America, etc.—so that in years to come they can become our competitors on finished goods? And if we do, how will we be paid? Traditionally, an industrial nation is supposed to sell manufactured goods and buy raw materials in exchange. But how would such a program sit with our farm-bloc or mining-state Congressmen?

* * *

Or can we hope to stimulate such a tremendous revival in world trade that all the wheat, all the rubber, all the tin, all the copper that can be produced will be consumed? For that would be a saving solution. Then there would be no limits to demand; then trade could flourish as never before.

But such a vast expansion in commerce would have to be underwritten. And no other nation except the United States could underwrite it.

That, then, is the ultimate implication to be drawn from the Welles-Halifax agreement. Once the war is won on the battlefield, the struggle to win the peace begins. And individual nations and individual industrials interests will have to accept new arrangements in world markets. And for a while at least, this country will probably have to look forward to the idea that foreign-giving (lease-lending) will have to take up where foreign lending left off after the last war.

In short, unless the world is to make war all over again, the United States will have to underwrite the peace.

ON CRITICISING THE BRITISH.

From the Pittsburgh Press.

IT is all right to criticise the British war effort, as we criticise our own, in an effort to make it all-out and effective.

But no patriotic American will utter any remarks which breathe dislike or distrust of the British, just as no patriotic Briton will yield to the temptation to dislike or distrust us.

For neither the United States nor Britain has any future except together. Neither of us is strong enough to go it alone. When an American cusses the British or vice versa, Hitler and Togo smile.

A Long Trip and Back Again With an Able Travel Writer

"Passport to Adventure," by Lewis N. Cotlow. (Bobbs-Merrill Co., Indianapolis.)

THE reader's taste for vicarious adventure has always had two main outlets.

On the one hand, there was the mighty professional explorer who never moved an inch without his faithful safari, who hunted with Sultans and tribal chiefs and who thought it unsporting to drop an elephant that measures less than 19 feet from wing to wing.

At the other end of the scale there was the world-on-a-dime, get-there-or-bust vagabond. He suffered his way around the world with incredible hardship and returned to write a book which dealt mainly with that night in Pi-Yu-Nkleng, when he ogled his last 32 Ping (17 cents U. S.) for hours and finally bought incense for the gods instead of a full meal for himself, and threw himself on the mercy of the Consulate.

These books, somewhat offset by steamship pamphlets, gave one a confused idea of the outside world and a keen desire to have somebody tell a plain story. What did these places feel like when you weren't completely overcome with fatigue, hunger or glory?

* * *

This author's answer was to get his taste for adventure well whipped up on trips as supercargo aboard Shipping Board vessels after the last war and then to work up a nice quiet business as an insurance counsel, which left him free to travel as he liked for three months of the year. Starting with a beaten track or two through Africa, he recently branched off, due to the war, to South America.

The result, as might be expected, is that although the African adventures are carefully and intimately told, they still follow the old routine to a certain extent. The revelations are few and the subject matter quite usual. But the trip to South America is fascinating.

Cotlow has a real gift for describing honestly his reactions to the places and peoples he visits and meets. Without rancor or sentiment, he manages to explain these reactions and make them reasonable. Visiting the Jivaro headhunters in the disputed territory between Peru and Ecuador, he goes to a great deal of trouble to find out why the Jivaros hunt heads. Sounds quite reasonable, too. Also, without long geographical and historical dissertations, he manages to give a solid background to his ports of call.

Quite obviously, the writer has withheld a great deal of detail for the sake of clarity. The result is refreshing.

Here at last is a travel and adventure story that gives an honest picture, that has no point other than the author's keen appreciation of the curious, that takes you there and brings you back without losing you somewhere on the way.

WALTER TAUSSIG SPAETH.

Murder in a Radio Station.

"Murder Behind the Mike," by Raymond Leslie Goldman. (Coward-McCann, Inc., New York.)

THE latest in a series of "whodunits" by Goldman, featuring Reporter Rufus Reed, who, if you are a Goldman follower, should be well known as the faithful newspaper man who does an excellent job of "stooging" for his publisher's canny sleuthing exploits. The story follows most of the conventionalities, but has the saving graces of a well-laid plot, an effective cloaking of the murderer's identity, an interesting exposé of possible methods of broadcasting subversive propaganda right under our noses and a complete and gratifying lack of gore. The radio-industry locale is pleasing because it is not exaggerated.

VALOR OF IGNORANCE

By HOMER LEA

CHAPTER IX—NEW METHODS OF WARFARE

WHENEVER a nation's attitude toward war is evasive, its conduct indecisive and its preparation an indifferent, ordered assembling of forces, it prepares for defeat.

Preparation for war must be definite in purpose, specific in application. There is no uncertainty in determining a nation's probable adversaries within such periods of time as to permit preparedness, the adaptation of armaments to specific purposes and defined theaters of war.

The objective of military activity must determine the character of its preparation. But there can be no adaptation of military means to a definite end when this preparation is purposeless and the Government of it nebulous and vain. A nation's military preparedness cannot be constant nor apply equally to all countries, but must vary with each combatant, and must be determined by the strategic advantages or difficulties extant. The character of military preparation is not identical in any two wars where exist chronological, racial or topographical differences.

Rigidity Spells Defeat.

Whenever a nation denies the basic and evolutionary character of warfare in the development and expansion of nationalities, rigid military systems come into being. This rigidity in military science is an anomaly that has time and again brought about the defeat and eventual dissolution of nations.

The evolution of warfare is constant in cause and effect, whether we consider the time and phalanxes of Alexander, the legions of Caesar, or the changes in armament and tactics that were introduced by Charles XII, Frederick the Great, Napoleon, Schornhorst, Von Moltke, or Yamagata. The successes of these captains were made certain by the application of new means and methods of warfare.

No phase of national activity demands so much flexibility in administration and development as the military and naval departments; no part of the Government needs more quickly to deteriorate if once they become subject to fixed and unalterable systems. Not only must all preparation for war be flexible as regards armament and training but also capable of instant change as the probabilities of war shift from one theater of combat to another.

Preparation in Peace.

Conditions governing military preparedness in a conflict with Mexico have nothing to do with factors controlling military preparations for a war with Germany. Moreover, the purpose of the enemy in making war, his armaments, objective theaters of war and innumerable other conditions must determine, in variant gradations, concurrent changes in this nation's preparations; these must be approximated and prepared for in times of peace.

Whenever preparation for war is regarded only as an expedient applicable to abnormal conditions, and is postponed to the beginning of struggle that shall terminate only in destruction.

The chances of success in modern warfare are proportionate to the rapidity with which the military and naval power of a nation can adapt itself to new conditions and diverse theaters of war. When specific preparation against a known enemy and in a predetermined theater of war is lacking, though general preparedness has not been neglected, the difficulties of conducting the war are diminished only in a small degreee. In some instances unforeseen conditions will prove so restrictive that war cannot be carried on in the enemy's principal thater of war, though the nation is possessed of both armies and navies.

Theater of War.

The theater of this war (the predicted war Lea is discussing, in 1909) as a whole, will be the Pacific Ocean, divisible into six spheres of combat: the Philippines, Hawaii, Alaska, Washington, Oregon and California. The salient characteristic that forms the determinate factor in the conduct and conclusion of this conflict is found in the vast distances that must be traversed by the armies and fleets of both nations.

In this approaching war, as in all international combats, the possession of strategic positions constitutes the main struggle of both nations, since it is in the permanent control of these that are to be found those elements of military and naval power that will determine the eventual consummation of the war.

The strategic positions forming the determinate factors in a war between Japan and this Republic are entirely American, and if they were defended to the extent that an attack on them was doubtful of success, then the probabilities of war would be remote. But these territories are naked of defense, and because of this nakedness they constitute an irresistable inducement to the ambitions of a martial race.

The conditions that determine the seizure and control of the American Pacific possessions apply to this Republic as much as they do to Japan. They equalize both nations' opportunities so long as Alaska, the Pacific coast, Hawaii, Samoa, and the Philippines are not defended prior to the beginning of hostilities. Their subsequent control, whether by Japan or this Republic, will be determined by which nation first occupies them in force and makes secure their possession.

The seizure and control of these territories are determined equally to both nations by three conditions:

(1 Temporary naval supremacy in the Pacific.

(2) Rapid mobilization of trained armies.

(3) Possession of efficient means of transportation.

The Author

HOMER LEA, author of "The Valor of Ignorance," who died in 1912, is recognized in competent quarters as one of the great military strategists. Born in Denver in 1876, he aspired to be a soldier, but, though his mind was brilliant, his back was hunched, and there was no military future for him in America. He turned to China, first in the cause of the Boy Emperor and then as military adviser to the famous Dr. Sun Yat-sen, founder of the Chinese Republic, attaining the rank of Lieutenant General. In 1909, with a profound knowledge of the Far East and the Pacific theater of war, he wrote this book—a warning to rich and complacent American that war with Japan was inevitable; he predicted the course the war would take with astonishing accuracy—at least as far as the war has gone to date. He also predicted a Japanese invasion of the American West Coast. The Post-Dispatch is reprinting this remarkable document in serial form by special arrangement with Harper & Brothers, New York, copyright holder.

THOUSANDS OF U. S. SOLDIERS ARRIVE SAFE IN AUSTRALIA

decks were sleeping porches open to the trade winds.

More Move to Decks.

As the nights grew hotter, more and more of the men and officers began pitching their blankets and lifebelts on deck, wherever they could find room to stretch out.

At all hours we wore lifebelts when outside the cabins or holds. Exercise was impossible either by night or by day. The decks were always too crowded to attempt brisk walking and at night, going out for a breath of fresh air, one had to grope slowly in the starlight for fear of treading on someone asleep. Food was plentiful, but water was rationed.

Yet the men did not complain. They all seemed reconciled to the fact that it would neither be a short war nor an easy one. They knew the fight would be uphill for a while.

Whatever their education, they realized that this war was their war in all parts of the world. And they are willing to fight it far away from home, knowing that if they didn't their own land sooner or later might feel the heel of the invader.

Departure From United States.

The evening we left everyone went on deck to watch twinkling lights slip down below the horizon and many of us wondered aloud when we would see home again. The hunches ranged from one year to five. Except for one small island we were not to see any land until we debarked.

Except for slightly choppy seas and a day or so of ground swells at the beginning of our voyage the whole passage was smooth. Only a few of the ship's officers knew our convoy's speed, the day's run and our position—and they were not telling. But we poop deck navigators had our own means of keeping pretty close tab on where we were on the broad Pacific. The sun and stars are good enough to give a rough check on the course and the eyes of experienced sea dogs can gauge speed within a knot or two.

Two soldiers even produced a home-made sextant which they rigged together with such odds and ends as a bit of shaving mirror, a pair of calipers and part of a slide rule. We thought it worked fairly well and on the last day we gauged what port we were going into. We were right.

Interest in Stars.

Except for the experienced navigators aboard not many of our passengers had taken much interest in the stars before. But with the blackout it was too stuffy to stay inside to read or chat or play cards, so hundreds of men began to take an eager interest in the heavens.

Nightly they would follow the North star as it dropped closer to the horizon and when at last it disappeared these sons of the Northern Hemisphere wondered how many months and years would pass before they would see it again.

Word of the first sighting of the Southern Cross swept around the decks like an item of hot news. Two or three star charts of Southern skies were dug out of atlases and soon were frayed into useless bits from constant passing from one eager hand to another. Orion, of course, was always with us. His glorious constellation is of great help to poop deck navigators who are barred from the bridge and are ever avid to know the ship's course.

Not counting news of the outside world, we missed most an adequate supply of fresh water. It ran through taps the first few days but then the plumbers took off the faucets. After that we were rationed.

Fresh water was for drinking purposes only and it was doled out only at certain hours. Carefully used, one might have enough left over for shaving, but in the tropics one drinks all the water one can.

SENATORS PLAN FURTHER CUTS IN FARM MEASURE

Fund of $771,155,000 Voted by House After Economy Bloc Gets Reduction of $56,510,000.

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP).—Encouraged by success of the House economy bloc in slashing $56,510,722 from the farm supply bill, Senate advocates of curbing non-defense expenditures awaited today their chance at the $771,555,137 measure.

"It's made a good start," commented Senator Byrd (Dem.), Virginia, after the House disposed of the agriculture bill late yesterday by a voice vote at the end of nine days of debate.

His reference was to the House reaction to recent recommendations of a special economy committee he heads for reductions of $1,300,000,000 in non-essential expenditures.

But farm bloc leaders have started a campaign to have some of the more drastic House cuts restored in the Senate. One House member said the Senate not only would restore some of the cuts but would increase the original amounts.

The deepest reductions were in funds for rural rehabilitation work under the Farm Security Administration and for operations under the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act. The former was cut 26 million, and loan authorizations for the latter were pared by 20 million.

The House Appropriations Committee had shaved $5,000,000 from the loan authorizations of the farm tenant program before the House received the bill and had pared 14 million from the rural rehabilitation program.

The House made no new cuts in the FSA loan authorization, but accepted a 50 million reduction recommended for this item by the committee, leaving the figure at 70 million.

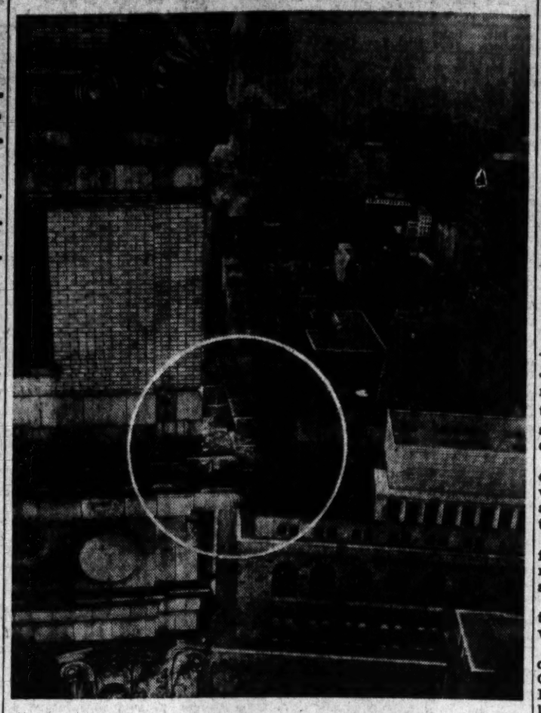

Another sharp cut was made by the House in travel expenses for the department's varied activities, the total for this purpose being reduced eight million.

In the bill as it went to the Senate was the administration-opposed clause prohibiting the selling of Government-controlled surplus commodities at prices below parity. The House modified the bar to allow sales of commodities for relief, of deteriorated grains for feeding and for use in the production of alcohol, and of cotton for experimental purposes.

Despite reports that this provision might prompt the President to veto the bill, administration forces made no determined fight against it and there was little likelihood the Senate, which earlier had approved separate legislation of the same nature, would remove the restriction.

In all, the bill included loan authorizations aggregating 105 million dollars, direct appropriations of $648,170,517, and re-appropriations of $18,384,620. The total of $771,555,137 compares with direct appropriations of $1,127,623,854, re-appropriations of $26,209,866 and loan authorizations of 270 million for the present year, an aggregate of $1,423,833,720.

Hit by Anti-Aircraft Shell

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

A shell from an American anti-aircraft gun struck the 40-story Equitable building in New York City yesterday and chipped off a corner from a ledge between the thirty-seventh and thirty-eighth floors. The circle in the picture shows the damaged ledge. Army officers said the 37-mm. gun was discharged accidentally. Seven shells are thought to have landed in the East River. Stating that the gun was an automatic weapon, located along the East river, Maj. Gen. Sanderford Jarman said: "Preliminary investigation indicates that the accident occurred through some mechanical failure in the firing mechanism of the gun." It is estimated that the shell traveled 2000 yards before it hit the building at 120 Broadway.

TWO NAMED TO COUNTY ELECTION BOARD POSTS

Thomas B. Curtis and R. H. B. Thompson to Serve Until Jan. 15, 1945.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 14 (AP).—Thomas B. Curtis, an attorney, and R. H. B. Thompson, headmaster of St. Louis Country Day School, were appointed today by Gov. Forrest C. Donnell as members of the St. Louis County Board of Election Commissioners. They will serve until Jan. 15, 1945.

Curtis replaces Herbert D. Condie of Ferguson as a Republican member, while Thompson, a Democrat, succeeds James L. McQuie of Kirkwood, who died recently. They will be paid $2000 a year.

Gov. Donnell previously had appointed A. D. Welsh, Republican, as board chairman, and L. John Weber, Democrat, as secretary.

Curtis, 31 years old, lives at 453 Gray avenue, Webster Groves. He has been active in the St. Louis Bar Association.

Thompson lives on Brown road, Berkeley City.

Curtis, 31 years old and married, lives at 305 Simmons avenue, Webster Groves. He has been an active member of the Small Loans Committee of the St. Louis Bar Association, and twice ran unsuccessfully for a Republican nomination as State Representative.

The Federal grand jury which returned a perjury indictment in 1939 against Albert C. Laun, former ace lobbyist for Union Electric Co. of Missouri, named Curtis as one who refused a campaign contribution offered by Laun.

Thompson is married and lives on the Country Day School grounds, on Brown road. He is chairman of the St. Louis Youth Commission, sponsored by the Social Planning Council; was a member of the St. Louis Boy Scout Council for many years, and has served as president and secretary of both the Country Day School Headmasters' Association of the United States and the Private Schools Association of the central states. He has never been a candidate for political office.

MEDAL OF HONOR FOR SAILOR WHO GAVE LIFE FOR OTHERS

James R. Ward, Went Down With Battleship Oklahoma While Helping Comrades Escape.

SPRINGFIELD, O., March 14 (AP).—President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Navy Knox informed Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ward yesterday that their son, James Richard, 20 years old, had been awarded posthumously the congressional Medal of Honor for "conspicuous devotion to duty, extraordinary courage and complete disregard of his own life."

Ward was killed in the attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7.

President Roosevelt's letter said that during the attack Ward disregarded an order to abandon the capsizing battleship Oklahoma and "remained in a turret holding a flashlight so the remainder of the turret crew could see to escape, thereby sacrificing his own life."

Man Dies While at Party.

Charles W. Evans, an insurance salesman, 55 years old, collapsed and died, apparently of acute indigestion, at 1 o'clock this morning while attending a party at the American Legion Hall, 243 Collinsville avenue, East St. Louis. He lived at 3242 Lincoln avenue, East St. Louis.

JAN PEERCE AND NOISE AT SYMPHONY CONCERT

By THOMAS B. SHERMAN

Jan Peerce, the American tenor who has reached the comparative fame of the Metropolitan Opera House via the Radio City Music Hall, made his first appearance in St. Louis yesterday afternoon as soloist with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Peerce contributed four operatic arias and a sentimental trifle called "The Jasmine Door" to the afternoon's proceedings and then added two more arias for good measure. The audience received him with that special cordiality reserved for tenors.

In his first aria, "Waft Her Angels," from Handel's Jeptha, he sang with restraint and dignity and made an appropriate effect. The "Prize Song," from Wagner's Die Meistersinger, lacked poetic expansiveness, and the two other arias, "Je Crois Entendre Encore," from Bizet's "Pearl Fishers," and "Celeste Aida" were neither very good nor very bad, so far as style was concerned.

As for the voice, it is bright and trumpet-like in its upper reaches, but the lower tones do not carry well. Moreover, the emission of tone often sounded as if it were being accomplished by a great deal of muscular tension. Altogether, one can only say that Mr. Peerce has a better than usual voice which is imperfectly produced and that his artistic equipment is not outstanding.

The orchestra under Conductor Golschmann reached a high level of expressive utterance in its performance of Schumann's ungrateful Symphony No. 2 in C Major. Mr. Golschmann made the whole symphony interesting, if not exactly compelling, and in the Adagio Espressivo produced an effect of tense and deep-lying emotion.

The orchestra also did well with Alexandre Tansman's arrangement of Bach's Toccata in D Minor and Strauss' "Der Rosenkavalier" waltzes.

The novelty of the afternoon was a piece by Carl Eppert, an American composer, called "Traffic." As the name suggests, it is all about a big city before the days of tire rationing, and it is composed of many fascinating noises. In spite of the composer's statement that he was not striving for onomatopoesy, the music falls into the same category as "Pacific 231," which is to say it has descriptive ingenuity but very little subjective effect.

The orchestra played it with conviction.

The concert, which was given as usual in the Municipal Auditorium, will be repeated tonight.

Laclede Gas Light Co. Election.

L. Wade Childress was re-elected president of Laclede Gas Light Co. at yesterday's meeting of the board of directors. Robert W. Otto, general counsel for several years, was elected vice-president, succeeding E. L. White. John J. Needham, secretary and treasurer, and Martin P. McVey, assistant secretary, were re-elected.

Third Friday-the-13th Baby.

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn., March 14 (AP).—Mrs. R. D. Medberry, 28 years old, gave birth to her third Friday-the-13th baby yesterday. The newest arrival is a girl. The Medberrys' other children are Claudia, born Friday, Dec. 13, 1935, and Richard, born Friday, Oct. 13, 1939.

HIRAM JOHNSON READY TO VOTE TO CLEAR LANGER

Veteran G. O. P. Senator Says He Has Made Up Mind After Hearing 5 Days of Discussion.

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—The veteran Senator Hiram W. Johnson (Rep.), California, told reporters today that he was ready to vote now and to exonerate Senator Langer (Rep.), North Dakota, on charges of moral turpitude.

Johnson said he believed the case against Langer had been developed sufficiently before the Senate to permit nearly every member to make a decision.

"I'm decided after listening for five days," Johnson said. "I'm ready to vote now and to exonerate Mr. Langer."

He added, however, he believed the debate would continue all next week.

The charges of moral turpitude on which the Senate Elections Committee voted 13 to 3 to deny Langer his seat have been outlined to the Senate by Senator Lucas (Dem.), Illinois, in a speech that kept him on the floor for five consecutive days.

Pro-Langer Speech Monday.

Senator Murdock (Dem.), Utah, who signed the minority report favoring Langer, is scheduled to present his views Monday.

Asserting he was hopeful that the discussion would end next week, Langer said he expected to receive an almost unanimous vote seating him. He has been serving in the Senate with all the privileges of a Senator since he took his oath of office Jan. 3, 1941. He was seated "without prejudice" pending investigation of the charges.

Murdock said he did not look for a vote before Thursday or Friday and thought the debate might continue into the following week.

Charges by Lucas.

Acting for the committee, Lucas laid particular emphasis on charges that Langer had accepted $56,800 for farm lands he sold to a Des Moines (Iowa) attorney who shared in profits from North Dakota bond transactions in 1937 and 1938, when Langer was Governor.

He asserted Langer had sold $25,000 in "worthless" stock in a Mexican land company to an attorney for a railroad interested in getting tax reductions while Langer was Governor.

He said Langer had paid $275 to Gale B. Wyman, son of the judge who presided over the trial in which Langer was acquitted on perjury charges in 1935.

Lucas described the land sales as "stinking to high heaven," said the payment to young Wyman was "despicable" and asserted Thomas Sullivan, Chicago, special attorney for the Great Northern Railroad in 1937 and 1938, was "no philanthropist."

Lucas said he had no personal interest or malice against Langer but merely was upholding the integrity and honor of the Senate.

Members who signed the minority report favoring Langer said Langer could not be found guilty without indulging in "presumptions, imagination and suspicion."

Wild animal pictures which Osa Johnson and her late husband, Martin Johnson, took in Kenya Colony, Africa, in the 1920s, were shown last night at the Principia, as a feature in the school's concert and lecture series. Mrs. Johnson appeared in person and gave a commentary with the showing.

Under title of "African Paradise," the film covers a trip to the interior from Zanzibar and a period of residence near a crater lake named Lake Paradise by the Johnsons, with side trips to Mount Kenya and other districts in search of big game. The explorers remained in the district four years with only three trips to the outside world for supplies.

Pictures of elephants, giraffes and bird life are especially good, although mountain scenery and camp life are used to advantage also in "African Paradise." The perilous and spectacular is noticeably absent. The film will be shown tonight in Morey Field House on the Principia campus at Elsah, Ill. C. Mc.

Gay Profusion of Blooms As Flower Show Opens

New 'Fire Chief' Carnation, Park Department Formal Garden Among Notable Exhibits.

A prismatic prelude to spring, offering aesthetic denial that beauty must be sacrificed in a world at war, characterizes the seventh annual Greater St. Louis Flower and Garden Show which opened today at The Arena to continue through March 22.

In contrast to last year's formal presentation, the Garden Building landscape flows and undulates in gay profusion of many-hued blossoms, flowering shrubs and rich green foliage, representing the best of American gardeners, amateur and commercial.

"Missouri Day" visitors found a revolving dais of tall-stemmed roses had replaced the former center fountain of the main building, but the surrounding cut flowers and potted plants followed traditional patterns, their perfumes alone justification for existence.

Easter Lily Scarce.

War contributed in the form of defense gardens and emphasis on the home, and almost took away one of the loveliest creations of nature—the stately Easter lily. Almost, but not quite, for there are a few in the exhibits of the University of Illinois and Purdue University.

Nodding virginal white blooms, these lilies sprang from carefully nurtured American bulbs, grown more precious since last fall's embargo halted importation of Japanese bulbs. Japan had sent as many as 20 million bulbs annually to the United States.

Never before seen at any show were 100 blossoms of the "Fire Chief" carnation, a brilliant red of five years' development by Phillip J. Goebel of Kirkwood. Officials regard this newcomer to the aromatic family as the "sport of the show."

Notable among the formal garden exhibits is that of the Park Department, occupying 8000 square feet in the southeast corner of the annex. A mirror pool and fountain, surrounded by lombardy poplars and gleaming white pergola and statuary, give it enchanting perspective.

With the adjacent sunken rose garden of the Association of Gardeners, the Park Department exhibit shares red bed, forsythia, honeysuckle, spirea and lilacs. And while other gardens utilize Florissant Valley sod, the Park Department attains more luxuriant carpetry with line grass.

In a commanding position at the annex entrance is a circular plot of pink-belled begonias and exotic calceolarias from the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Stupp of Ladue. The latter flowers, popularly called "ladies' pocketbooks," are of delicate yellow with violent red leopard-spots.

Six Private Estate Exhibits.

There are six private estate exhibits, one more than last year, in themes varying from Parisian to modern. In another section are special problem exhibits of clubs, individual displays and the St. Louis Garden Club theater, while the central area is dominated by a ranch type home, pointing up the show's motif.

For variety, no exhibit excels that of the Board of Education instruction department, which mingles begonias, floss flowers, hybrid tea and rambler roses, lantana, genista, Shasta daisies, hydrangea, tulips, marigolds, African violets, narcissus and red-budded sage, as well as sprouting vegetables.

REASON TO HOPE FINLAND CAN GET OUT OF WAR SOON, MINISTER SAYS

HELSINKI, March 14 (AP).

MINISTER OF TRADE VAINO TANNER, who was Finland's Foreign Minister during the 1939-1940 winter war with Russia, asserted yesterday there is reason to hope that Finland's part in the war "will end very soon."

Tanner said Finland had received many proposals from abroad to make a separate peace with Russia, but added these proposals must be rejected because of Russia's plans for Finland after the war. He did not say what the plans were, but said they had the sanction "of a certain influential member of the British cabinet and the eminent newspaper, The Times."

(There have been reports recently that a peace movement has been growing steadily in Finland.)

TWO SHOT BY SENTRIES AT SEATTLE PLANE PLANT

Boeing Workers Wounded When They Drive Through Barricades.

SEATTLE, Wash., March 14 (AP).—Two Boeing aircraft workers were shot by Army sentries after they drove an automobile through Army barricades at plant No. 2 at 3 a. m. today.

Jack Vandelaar, 42 years old, mechanic, listed in police reports as the driver, was shot in the neck. He was booked without charge.

George M. Smith, 25, laborer, was shot in the back of the head but not seriously wounded.

Charles Rex, 22, laborer, Seattle, also in the car, was uninjured. He said he did not realize they were running through a road-block.

Vandelaar said he drove past the sentries absent-mindedly but had driven that route several times before and had not been challenged.

Dr. Bartlett on Duty in Navy.

Dr. Willard Bartlett Jr., surgeon and instructor in surgery at St. Louis University Medical School, will leave Tuesday to go on active duty as a Lieutenant-Commander with the Navy. He will be stationed at a West Coast Navy hospital. Dr. Bartlett, 40 years old, lives at 16 Washington terrace. He is married and has two young sons.

CURB ON TYPEWRITER RENTALS LIFTED; CHARGES FIXED

Plan Also Announced for Limited Sale of Used Machines.

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP).—The Office of Price Administration today lifted restrictions on typewriter rentals and announced a plan for the limited rationing of used machines under temporary price ceilings.

The rationing will begin April 13, with prices fixed at March 5 levels. Rental charges also are fixed under a 60-day emergency ceiling, effective immediately.

New typewriter stocks, now frozen, are not affected by the OPA order, but it was said some new machines soon may be allocated. The used machines may be sold only to prime contractors at work on military or naval cantonments, shipyards or air bases, and operators of plants holding highest priority ratings. They must prove immediate need.

COURT DECISION ON BIRTHDAY GIVES LIEUT. O'HARE $15,000

Chicago Judge Decides Half of Money Realized in Sale of Apartment Belongs to Him.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, March 14. — Lieut. Edward H. O'Hare, Navy flyer who recently shot down six Japanese airplanes in one day, was 28 years old yesterday, and got a $15,000 birthday present.

Circuit Judge Cornelius J. Harrington decided he was the owner, under a trust agreement, of half of the $30,000 realized by sale of a six-family apartment building on Sherwin avenue. The other half, the court decided, belongs to the estate of his father, Edward J. O'Hare, who was shot and killed here in 1939.

FINED ON CHARGE OF SELLING INTOXICATED WOMAN A DRINK

Barkeeper to Appeal $25 Assessment; Witness Says She Was Not Drunk.

Andrew C. Pfifer, saloonkeeper at 2429 South Broadway, was fined $25 by Provisional Police Judge Joseph Renard yesterday on a charge of having sold liquor to an intoxicated woman.

It was the second time the case had been called. On the last occasion, Police Judge Joseph B. Catanzaro severely criticised police for having failed to bring the woman in as a witness. The woman was there yesterday, and testified Pfifer had sold her several drinks. She asserted, however, that she wasn't drunk. Pfifer said he would appeal.

60 DAYS FOR OFFERING BRIBE

Huncy Allen, Negro coal dealer, 3036 Sheridan avenue, who was sentenced to 30 days in the Workhouse and fined $100 Jan. 20 for selling illegal coal and not having a solid fuel permit, was sentenced to 60 days in the Workhouse by Circuit Judge William S. Connor yesterday when he pleaded guilty of attempting to bribe a public officer at the time of his arrest on the other charges.

Deputy Fuel Inspector Fred M. Domke had reported that Allen offered $10 to him if he would "forget about it" when Allen was arrested Jan. 2 with two tons of illegal coal in his possession.

Unexploded Mortar Shell Removed From Red Soldier's Side by Surgeon

MOSCOW, March 14 (AP).—An unexploded shell two inches in diameter was removed from the side of a Red Army soldier in a delicate operation unique in the history of surgery, Tass news agency reported today.

The soldier, Nikolai Bystrikov, is recovering.

He was hit in February by a German mortar projectile which penetrated his right shoulder and buried itself in his side.

Bystrikov, realizing an explosion might occur at any moment, warned stretcher bearers away and tried twice to kill himself with a hand grenade, but was too weak to do so, Tass said.

The stretcher bearers carried him back to a crude field hospital, where Dr. M. M. Pakhman decided to operate.

The doctor ordered the staff to leave, but all insisted on staying to assist, and the shell was removed without incident.

SPECIALIZED RECOVERIES MARK SLOW STOCK TRADE

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP).—Specialized recoveries again were the rule in today's stock market.

While rails, steels and motors never got anywhere to speak of, fractional advances came into most other departments at the start. The worst that could be said of closing trends was that they were narrowly mixed.

Buyers, as well as sellers, were timid throughout and transfers for the two hours totaled 174,640 shares, one of the smallest Saturday aggregates since last August.

The light support that appeared, as in Friday's session, was attributed principally to the belief of some optimists that the long decline had put the list in a healthier technical condition.

Bulletins from war fronts still were too sketchy to provide much speculative or investment stimulation, brokers said.

Tax worries seemed to have subsided somewhat as a market barrier as Wall street circles began to think Congress might substantially amend the Treasury's drastic program. Analysts rather liked the sales tax proposal, inasmuch as this form of gathering revenue could lessen the pressure on corporate and individual imposts.

Rail Changes Small.

Rails generally kept declines to minor amounts but there was scant disposition to work up any real steam in this group because of the likelihood the request for postponement of higher freight rates on certain commodities would have to be granted.

Chrysler, one of the best movers of the previous day, backed down on profit taking. Interest was expressed in the message of President Keller to stockholders revealing the concern was spending upward of $60,000,000 in expanding its war production activities.

Fairly resistant stocks included American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, Anaconda, American Smelting, Sears Roebuck, U. S. Rubber, United Aircraft, Pepsi-Cola, du Pont and J. C. Penney.

Allied Chemical and Chesapeake & Ohio dipped to new lows for the year or longer. Inclined to falter were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Eastman Kodak, Johns-Manville, Santa Fe, Union Pacific and North American.

Bonds and commodities were uneven.

In a slim Curb minor losses were posted for Creole Petroleum, American Gas and Republic Aviation.

Overnight Development.

A lag insome lines of industry was indicated to market followers by the compilation of the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association disclosing for the week ended March 7 decreases from the preceding week of 3 per cent in production, 7 per cent in shipments and 2 per cent in new orders. Both output and new business were under the comparable week last year while shipments were up 8 per cent.

Not so pleasing to the financial sector was the announcement of sharp boosts in cargo war risk insurance rates along the Atlantic Coast of the Western Hemisphere to become effective today. Principal increases apply to trades which originate in, enter or pass through the submarine-harrier waters of the Caribbean and the Gulf of Mexico.

COTTON MARKET CLOSES 15C A BALE UP TO 10C LOWER

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP).—Cotton futures trading was more active today after passage by the House of the agricultural bill but prices failed to make much headway.

A good demand from Memphis interests, believed to be price fixing for tire mill accounts, totaled about 10,000 bales.

Active hedging against C. C. C. cotton offset these purchases. February consumption of 893,000 bales was in line with expectations, while mill stocks increased to a new record high totaling about 2,500,000 bales.

Futures closed 15 cents a bale higher to 10 cents lower.

NEW ORLEANS, March 14 (AP).—Average price of middling 15-16th inch cotton Saturday at 10 designated Southern spot markets was 19.33.

February Cotton Consumption.

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP).—The Census Bureau reported today that cotton consumed during February totaled 893,745 bales of lint and 107,539 bales of linters, compared with 945,909 and 116,247 during January this year and 793,428 and 106,838 during February last year.

In consuming establishments, 2,579,789 bales of lint and 558,972 of linters, compared with 2,495,186 and 541,754 on Jan. 31 this year and 1,906,835 and 543,060 on Feb. 28 last year.

In public storage and at compresses, 12,213,135 bales of lint and 175,902 of linters, compared with 12,857,321 and 146,007 on Jan. 31 this year and 14,045,487 and 83,638 on Feb. 28 last year.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP). — Rail loans were responsible for a major part of bond market activity today and they were still under the influence of yesterday's announcement that the O. P. A. was seeking a cancellation of recently awarded freight rate increases on 10 important commodities.

Fractional losses in the carrier list were numerous, although a few issues steadied near the end of the first hour.

On the offside were Northern Pacific 4s, Missouri Pacific "F" 5s, Nickel Plate 4½s, Alleghany Corp. 5s, Erie 4½s of 2015 and Lehigh Valley 4s.

Minor gains were recorded by Wabash 4¼s, Pacific Gas 3⅜s, and Nickel Plate 5½s.

Foreign bonds were generally steady. United States Governments were about even with previous finals.

Bankers' Acceptances Decrease.

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP).—Bankers' acceptances outstanding at the end of February showed a decrease of $7,268,000 under the total a month earlier and were more than $20,000,000 under those of the comparable 1941 date, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported today.

The decline was accounted for chiefly by drops in domestic warehouse credits which more than overbalanced slight rises in other divisions.

WHEAT AND CORN PRICES ARE LOWER

CHICAGO, March 14 (AP).—Languishing because of lack of support from flour and milling trade buyers as well as professional traders, the wheat market today drifted about a cent a bushel lower in week-end dealings.

Rye prices tumbled almost 2 cents, due to liquidation induced partly by release of bonded Canadian rye in the Midwest, and this helped to unsettle the wheat market.

Wheat closed ⅝@1c lower than yesterday, May $1.29⅝, July $1.31¼@1.31; corn unchanged to ½c lower, May 88¼c, July 90⅝@¾c; oats, ⅛c off; rye 1¾@1⅞c lower; soybeans ¼@⅞c lower.

Failure of flour and milling activity to expand as many traders had expected, prior to temporary suspension of Government wheat offers to mills after today, was a bearish factor. While some mill and flour buying has been reported the past few days, the volume was not regarded as large.

There were reports that the Commodity Credit Corporation had sold some wheat in the Southwest, but this business apparently was limited to certain grades on which prices were at sufficient discount to attract buyers. Generally speaking, prices of privately owned wheat at all markets are several cents below minimum quotations asked for CCC stocks.

Kansas City reports indicated mills were active buyers in the spot market yesterday but this was not of sufficient force to influence futures prices materially. Little grain that has been under loan appeared on the market but traders expressed belief an advance of only a few cents is all that would be necessary to bring increased supplies out of storage.

The principal factor restricting trading was continued uncertainty regarding presidential action on the legislation to prevent Government sales of wheat and corn at prices below parity. Different versions of this legislation have been approved in each house of Congress but there is still uncertainty as to what its final form will be when submitted to the President, who has voiced disapproval of any restrictions on administration of the ever-normal granary supply.

Rye was off about a cent at times, due to continued liquidation attributed to longs who accumulated holdings several weeks past.

Lard remained at ceilings.

MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, March 14.—In the cash grain section of the market today wheat was ½@1c lower, corn unchanged to ½c lower and oats unchanged. Sales made on the floor of the exchange were as follows:

Wheat—No. 3 red winter wheat $1.30½; No. 4 red winter wheat $1.28½. No. 4 red garlicky wheat $1.26¾.

Ruling on Flaxseed.

WINNIPEG, March 14 (Canadian Press).—Members of the grain trade in Canada have been notified by the Canadian Wheat Board that the price change for flaxseed as announced by the Minister of Trade and Commerce will not be effective until Aug. 1, 1942.

At the same time, the board reminded grain dealers that the freezing order on flaxseed issued March 6 is still effective at country elevator points where special authority must be obtained from the board in order to make shipments from country elevators or to complete sales.

Patrol Activity in Taikkyi Area Viewed as Threat to Defenders Holding Road Above Pegu.

LONDON, March 14 (AP).—Japanese forces pressing the British defenders of Burma were reported today to be sending patrols northward in the Taikkyi area, 40 miles northwest of Rangoon, although the main body of the invaders was well south of that sector.

A British communique issued in Burma said defense operations in the Nyaunglebin-Shwegyin area were proceeding satisfactorily. Nyaunglebin is on the Rangoon-Mandalay highway about 80 miles north of Rangoon and Shewegyin is about 10 miles southeast of that point.

(The report indicates the Japanese may be attempting to outflank the British forces holding the Rangoon-Mandalay road north of Pegu.)

FIRST U. S. SERGEANT PILOTS GRADUATED, ARMY DISCLOSES

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP).—The War Department announced today that the first class of flying sergeants had been graduated as United States Army pilots.

Training of enlisted men began last fall at a civil contract flying school in the gulf coast area. They received the same ground and air instruction given aviation cadets who become officers.

The enlisted men attain the rank of staff sergeant pilots on graduation and are paid $108 a month while on flight duty.

The War Department said other enlisted me nare now being trained to fly combat planes. It was estimated about 20 per cent of the Army's pilot strength would be composed of non-commissioned officers.

ONLY 22 KILLED, 21 INJURED IN FEBRUARY RAIDS ON BRITAIN

LONDON, March 14 (AP).—The Ministry of Home Security said today that air raid casualties in the United Kingdom during February totaled 22 killed and 21 injured and hospitalized.

This is the smallest monthly total since the start of heavy German bombing in mid-June, 1940, and compares with totals of 789 civilians killed and 1068 injured in February, 1941. The new figures increased the totals of announced raid casualties for the war in Britain to 43,162 killed and 54,128 injured.

Medal After 40 Years.

CHICAGO.—Henry (Cap) Hertzinger has received a bronze medal from the Navy Department 40 years after he served in the Navy.

Hertzinger, a foreman in charge of Jackson Park harbor, wrote for a record of his honorable discharge. Inclosed with the record was the unexpected medal.

"I'm Coming, MacArthur."

LYNN, Mass.—The Western Union clerk wasn't sure about the delivery, but that didn't stop the cocky young man in the least:

"I don't care," he replied, "just send it."

The telegram was addressed to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the Philippines. It read:

"Hold on. I am coming. Callahan."

ALSAB AND REQUESTED HEAD LIST

Requested 8-1, Alsab 10 to 1 in The Derby Books

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 14.

LOCAL oddsmakers put a 10-to-1 tag on Alsab, 1941 juvenile champion today, as nominations for the 1942 Kentucky Derby were released.

Ranked above Mrs. Al Sabath's $700 bargain horse were Calumet Farm's Sun Again and B. F. Whitaker's Requested at 8 to 1.

The Louisville Times handicapper reported the following winter book prices on other Derby eligibles: Bless Me, 10; Devil Diver, 15; Bright Willie, 15; American Wolf, 20; Boot and Spur, 30; Shut Out, 30; Ramillies, 30; Apache, 40; Dogpatch, 40; Black Raider, 40; Figgeritout, 40; First Fiddle, 40; With Regards, 50; Syl's Jimmy, 50; Some Chance, 50; Col. Teddy, 50; Chiquita Mia, 50.

Others ranged up to 1000 to 1.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 14 (AP).—One hundred and fifty thoroughbreds, headed by Alsab and Requested, were nominated today for the sixty-eighth running of the $75,000 Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs, May 2.

Included in the list of nominees for the mile and a quarter classic are 15 imported horses.

The impact of war on this country—which forced cancellation of winter racing in California—is shown in the number of nominations. During the last 12 years the nominations have ranged between 102 and 130. In 1930 there were 150 nominated and in the boom year, 1928, the record of 196.

Of the 150 nominated this year, probably not more than 10 to 15 will parade to the post on Derby Day.

Col. Matt J. Winn, president of Churchill Downs, reviewing the list of subscribers, declared the Derby "is wide open."

"There is no outstanding candidate," he said, "but there are more than a score of top class three-year-olds from which the winner probably will come."

Mrs. Albert Sabath's Alsab, 1941 juvenile champion, presents by far the most impressive record of any of the nominees on the basis of last year's performance. But the $700 bargain horse has been anything but successful this season in his Florida campaign. Whether Alsab will be able to return to his 1941 form by May 2 remains the big question among turfmen.

The Sabath colt started 22 times as a two-year-old, won 15, was second twice and third once to win a total of $110,600.

Second only to Alsab among 1941 juveniles, Requested, owned by B. F. Whitaker and winner of the Flamingo this winter, also is in the list and probably will become the winter book favorite.

Warren Wright's Calumet Farm Stable, which ran into the California racing blackout, nominated eight thoroughbreds to lead all subscribers in the hope of repeating his 1941 triumph by Whirlaway. Trainer Ben Jones, however, is believed staking his hopes on either Sun Again or Some Chance. Sun Again took down $45,455 last year while Some Chance won $81,265. Some Chance lost his only time out this year at Agua Caliente.

Col. E. R. Bradley, whose Idle Hour silks have triumphed in four Derbies, is back again with Bless Me after a year's absence. If Bless Me goes to the post, many a Kentucky dollar will be riding with him just in case this is again the Colonel's year.

Don't Carry Much Weight.

While the number of imported horses nominated is large, none, in the opinion of local hardboots, carries much weight. John Hay Whitney's This England, by Hyperion out of Sarita, appears the best of the bunch on previous performance. Omar Khayyam was the only imported horse ever to win the Derby, being first in 1917.

Beaumont Will Oppose St. Louis U. High for State Basket Honors

It's an all-St. Louis final in the Class A State basketball championship tournament at the Washington University Field House and, tonight at 9:30, the title will be decided in a battle between Beaumont High and St. Louis U. High. As preliminaries to the night's feature, Benton High of St. Joseph will meet Jefferson City in the consolation final, and Monett and Cape Central will play for possession of third place.

Both semifinal contests last night were won by wide margins, St. Louis U. High trouncing Cape Central, the Cape Girardeau representative, 49 to 33, and Beaumont, recording its nineteenth straight victory, running away from Monett, one of the pre-tourney favorites, by a count of 51 to 35.

In the consolation contests, play was closer with Benton defeating Northeast of Kansas City, 29 to 22, and Jefferson City edging a victory over McBride High, 26 to 25.

Tonight's finalists lost no time in breaking away to a comfortable lead which they maintained throughout. The Junior Billikens hopped off to a 16-4 advantage in the first quarter and then proceeded. With Metz and Raymond hitting the basket frequently, the winners continued their scoring streak and at half-time led, 27 to 13. Cape made a better fight of it in the last two periods in which many of Coach Jack O'Reilly's reservists took part and there was a team-difference of only two points in those periods.

It was just about the same story with Beaumont and Monett. At the end of the first quarter, the Blue Jackets were ahead, 15 to 8. After the second, they led, 33 to 16, and in the last two quarters, with second stringers getting their chance, the North Siders were outscored, 19 to 18.

The consolation between McBride and Jefferson City was a hummer. McBride led 13 to 8 at the half, but were unable to withstand a second half rally by the team from the capital city.

The Kutis team, winner of the Ozark A. A. U. basketball championship, was drawn against the Cessna Trainers, of Wichita, Kan., for the first round of play in the National A. A. U. basket tournament, beginning tomorrow, according to pairings announced today.

The Nebcos, Municipal champions St. Louis' other entry, was drawn against the Royal Arcanums, of Denver.

Illinois Five Will Play Kentucky in First Round Game

NEW ORLEANS, March 14 (AP).—The University of Illinois basketball team, champion of the Big Ten, will meet Kentucky, Southeastern Conference titleholder, in the opening round of the National Collegiate Athletic Association basket playoffs March 20. The drawings were made yesterday by Dr. Wilbur C. Smith, athletic director of Tulane and tourney chairman.

In the other game Dartmouth will oppose Penn State. The winners will meet March 21 for the Eastern championship and that victor will go to Kansas City March 28 to meet the Western title winner for the N. C. A. A. crown.

Dodds and MacMitchell To Renew Their Rivalry In One-Mile Race Tonight

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP).—Metropolitan track fans have hurried to the box office with almost the same speed they expect Leslie MacMitchell and Gil Dodds to show tonight in their Columbian mile duel.

Not since Wednesday has there been a ticket unsold for any of the reserved seats in huge Madison Square Garden.

Two weeks ago Dodds ruined a neck and neck thriller between the two by scampering through his third quarter in 61 seconds and building up a 15-yard lead. MacMitchell couldn't get all the distance back and lost for the first time in 19 starts. The time was 4:08.7.

That immediately set up tonight's race, feature event of the twenty-third annual Knights of Columbus games.

Dodds' victory was his first appearance of the season as a miler and since then the Boston divinity student has pounded through a 4:15.7 mile on an unbanked oval at Washington without spikes while MacMitchell took the IC-4A title in 4:13.7.

There will be two other starters, Jim Rafferty, once of Fordham, and Gene Venizke of the New York A. C.

Other events on the program also have attractive entry lists. Greg Rice, the little perpetual motion machine from Notre Dame, figures to win the two-mile run although he competes against Walter Mehl, who bested Rice in May, 1940, for his last track loss.

John Borican, the portrait-painting speedster, will compete in both the 600 and 1000-yard races, both of which he won a year ago, while Al Blozis and Earle Meadows are expected to chalk up routine triumphs in the shot put and pole vault, respectively.

In the relay competitions the four fastest teams of the Eastern indoor season—Colgate, Georgetown, Fordham and Villanova—will compete in the mile while Fordham and Seton Hall are in the two-mile.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 14.—The Cardinals scored their first shut-out victory of the spring training season here this afternoon, defeating the world champion New York Yankees, 4 to 0.

Morton Cooper, Harry Gumbert and Howard Krist pitched for the Redbirds and yielded seven safeties. Two Cardinal double plays helped the hurlers out of a couple of tight spots.

The Cardinals themselves made only three hits off John Lindell and Mel Queen, but an error by Joe Gordon paved the way for their first two runs, in the fifth, and a double by Sanders and a balk by Queen helped the St. Louis cause in the ninth.

The paid attendance was announced as 1520.

The game:

FIRST INNING—CARDINALS—Lindell threw out Brown. T. Moore was out the same way. Musial grounded to Gordon.

SECOND — CARDINALS — Slaughter grounded to Levy. Gordon threw out Sanders. O'Dea grounded to Levy.

YANKEES—Crespi threw out Chartak. Robinson walked. Levy singled Robinson to second. Priddy forced Levy, Marion to Crespi. Lindell struck out.

THIRD — CARDINALS — Rizzuto threw out Crespi. Marion struck out. M. Cooper grounded to Priddy.

FOURTH — CARDINALS—Lindell threw out Brown. T. Moore grounded to Priddy. Gordon threw out Musial. It was the thirty-second consecutive scoreless inning by the Yankee pitchers.

YANKEES — Gumbert pitched for the Cardinals. Chartak walked. Crespi threw out Robinson. Brown threw out Levy. Priddy hit to Brown, who tagged Chartak going to third.

FIFTH—CARDINALS — Slaughter struck out. Sanders walked. Lindell threw out O'Dea. Crespi was safe when Gordon dropped his pop fly. Sanders scoring and Crespi taking second on the throw to the plate. Marion singled, scoring Crespi. Gumbert forced Marion, Rizzuto to Gordon. TWO RUNS.

YANKEES — Lindell flied to Slaughter. Rizzuto popped to Crespi. So did Henrich.

SIXTH — CARDINALS—Queen and Rosar formed the new Yankee battery. Brown flied to Selkirk. T. Moore fouled to Levy. Musial flied to Selkirk.

YANKEES—Mancuso caught for the Cardinals. Selkirk grounded to Sanders, Gumbert covering first. Gordon singled. Chartak singled Gordon to second. Rosar hit into a double play, Brown to Crespi to Sanders.

SEVENTH — CARDINALS Slaughter lined to Rizzuto. Sanders struck out. Mancuso fouled to Priddy.

YANKEES — Rizzuto singled. Henrich singled Rizzuto to second. Selkirk flied to T. Moore and Rizzuto was doubled trying for third, T. Moore to Brown, Henrich going to second. Brown threw out Gordon.

NINTH — CARDINALS — Terry Moore walked. Musial singled T. Moore to second. Slaughter forced Musial, Henrich to Rizzuto. Sanders doubled, scoring T. Moore. Slaughter scored and Sanders took third on a balk. Mancuso fouled to Levy. Crespi fouled to Rosar. TWO RUNS.

YANKEES—Chartak fouled to Brown. Rosar singled. Levy lined to Musial. Priddy walked. Stainback batted for Queen and was thrown out by Krist.

Dodgers Obtain Sullivan

Purchase Holdout Catcher From Detroit Club for Unannounced Cash Consideration.

LAKELAND, Fla., March 14 (AP).—The Detroit Tigers yesterday reduced their holdouts to four by sending Catcher Billy Sullivan to the Brooklyn Dodgers for an undisclosed amount of cash. General Manager Jack Zeller of the Tigers completed the transaction with Larry MacPhail of the Dodgers by telephone.

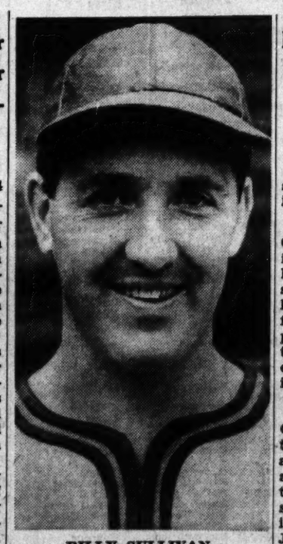

At the same time the Tigers called up Al Unser, veteran minor league receiver, from their Beaumont farm club of the Texas League to replace Sullivan behind George (Birdie) Tebbetts and Dixie Parsons, other catchers in camp.

Sullivan, whose salary reportedly was halved from the 1941 figure of $12,000, failed to report this spring but remained at his home at Sarasota. The 31-year-old Chicagoan, whose father and namesake once made baseball history with the White Sox, came to the Tigers in 1940 from the St. Louis Browns in exchange for Pitcher George Coffman and shared in Detroit's pennant victory.

He had seen previous service with Chicago and Cleveland in the American League and Cincinnati in the National League.

CLEARWATER, Fla. — Friday the thirteenth struck the Cleveland Indians baseball camp to send Manager Lou Boudreau to bed with a sore throat and rookie Catcher Otto Denning to the sidelines with a bone chip in the third finger of his throwing hand.

Denning, who has been hitting well, injured the finger several days ago. He found it difficult to grip a bat and X-ray photos showed the break. It was the first injury to any member of the club.

BILLY SULLIVAN.

Indians' Manager Out With a Sore Throat — Miller Expected to Sign Contract.

TAMPA, Fla.—A bright spot in Cincinnati's inability to improve its hitting is Shortstop Eddie Joost, lead-off man, who cracked three singles yesterday to bring to nine his total of safeties in five grapefruit games. Last year Joost disproved experts who said he was too frail to stand the rigors of an entire campaign. This season he is 15 pounds heavier.

SANFORD, Fla.—President Bob Quinn of the Braves has heard that Shortstop Eddie Miller will arrive in camp before many days and is expected to sign his contract. Lefty Jimmy Wallace will start for the Braves against Washington today, with Jim Tobin and Johnny Hutchings following him on the mound.

MIAMI, Fla.—"No, the screwball isn't what it used to be," says Carl Hubbell, veteran New York Giants southpaw, of the pitch that made him one of the game's greatest. "It just couldn't be because I no longer can put the snap on it that I used to. And of course, I can't throw as hard, either. But the curve still seems to be working all right."

Flyers, in Tie For Lead, Play Tulsa Tonight

TULSA, Ok., March 14.—The St. Louis Flyers and Tulsa Oilers will be out to gain ground in the A. H. A. Northern and Southern Division races respectively tonight, when they meet in their final game of the season here.

Though the Flyers are tied for first place in the Northern Division and the Oilers are in last place in the Southern Division, their positions are much the same. The Flyers need a victory to pull ahead of St. Paul or remain on even terms, depending on the outcome of the Saints' battle with Fort Worth tonight. The Oilers need a triumph to pull ahead of Dallas in the fight for the third play-off berth in the Southern Division.

St. Paul moved into a tie with the Flyers taking a 4-2 thriller from the Dallas Texans last night, giving the Saints a clean sweep over the Texans this season.

Georgia Tainter Defeated in Final

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 14 (AP).—Mary Jayne German, Sarasota amateur titleholder, stopped the victorious winter drive of Georgia Tainter today when she defeated the Fargo, N. D., girl, 2 and 1, in the final of the annual Florida East Coast women's golf tournament.

Red Rolfe to Join Yankees Next Week

TOLEDO, O., March 14 (AP).—Robert A. (Red) Rolfe, veteran third sacker for the world champion New York Yankees, plans to leave here early next week for the Yankees' training base at St. Petersburg, Fla., he said last night.

Rolfe has been in Toledo since Wednesday taking treatments from a specialist for colitis. The 33-year-old Penacook, N. H., infielder, who dropped from 170 to 159 pounds during the 1941 campaign, said he hadn't been feeling well since September.

Although he had regained his normal playing weight, Rolfe said: "If baseball is going to injure my health, I have no alternative but to give it up. The mental and physical strain certainly wouldn't help my playing ability."

Mangrum Hits Jackpot in Florida Golf Tourney With 137

Little and Hogan Next At the End

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 14 (AP).—Lloyd Mangrum, the Chicago professional, hit the jack-pot in a Friday-the-thirteenth double-decker, winning the $400 first prize in the Victory golf tournament here and then teaming up with Poloist Michael G. Phipps to take the pro-amateur event.

Having tucked in yesterday's event, with a 36-hole total of 137, Mangrum paired with Phipps and sliced an even dozen strokes off par to card a best-ball record 62, the performance netting Mangrum $1000 more.

Phipps received a four-stroke handicap and helped his partner on four holes. Four strokes behind them came Charles V. McAdam of Greenwich, Conn., and Lawson Littl of San Francisco and James W. Paul of Philadelphia and Herman Keiser of Akron, O.

In the medal playing, Little was a stroke behind Mangrum with a 139, followed by Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., with 140. Then came Henry Picard of Oklahoma City with 141.

Other leading money winners were Little, $587.50; Keiser, $287.50; Picard, $170, and Sam Snead of Hot Springs, W. Va., $156.

Mangrum was four under par in yesterday's first nine with a brilliant 32, with birdies on the second, third, seventh and ninth holes. His longest putt was only 10 feet.

His card on the second nine was nearly as good, with birdies on the tenth, fourteenth and fifteenth holes. He exceeded par, however, on the eleventh and seventeenth holes.

Three Jockeys Are Injured in Spill at Miami

MIAMI, Fla., March 14 (AP).—The second Friday the 13th of 1942 will be remembered by horsemen for year to come as the day of the big spill at Miami's Tropical Park.

Eddie Arcaro, riding the favored Boston Man, the first horse to go down, was thought to have fractured his right arm, but an X-ray examination disclosed nothing more serious than painful bruises and the loss of considerable skin.

Royal Man, five-year-old Miami-owned horse which won $21,035 last year, received a broken leg and had to be destroyed, but the other horses were walked off the track.

Ohio State Swimmers Have Good Chance to Dethrone Michigan

Michigan had 14, but in two events where the Wolverines had been expected to turn in the fastest times—the 220-yard and 440-yard free style—the Buckeyes were out in front.

Tenpin Classic Begins.

More than 150 bowlers will compete in the third annual diamond classic tournament at the Bevo alleys, beginning tonight. Squads also will roll tomorrow, March 21, 22, 28 and 29. For information call FLanders 9434.

Going Down

Wood River to Play Chicago Champion in First Round Contest

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., March 14 (AP).—There were 16 teams left in the running today for the Illinois State high school basketball championship now held by Morton of Cicero, but Morton was one of the 16 and may have plenty to say about about anyone else taking over the throne.

A tough team when the chips are down, Morton conquered York of Elmhurst, 27 to 19, last night in the sectional final at Maywood. Only a week before, in the regional final, York had defeated Morton, 29 to 28. The victory was the twentieth in 24 starts for Coach Norman Ziebell's five, which bears little resemblance to last year's winning quintet.

Morton wasn't supposed to win the title last year. The advance dope was all in favor of Centralia, but the Cicero boys forgot to read the papers and bumped off Centralia, 30-29, in the semifinals at Champaign.

Centralia will be back, too, but it comes without the advance billing of invincibility and without the superlative record of last year. However, Centralia's current line-up does include one striking similarity to that of last year—Dwight Eddleman, the one-man scoring spree and hailed as the greatest prep player of Illinois history, is still there.

41 Fouls in Game.

Coach A. L. Trout's five kept in the running by trimming Mount Vernon, a team that had twice licked Centralia this season, 43 to 42. And, to prove that Eddleman isn't the whole team, the Orphans won with the great "Dyke" on the bench almost all the last quarter, repenting four personal fouls.

Farrell Robinson, a little forward, was the man of the hour for Centralia as he rushed under the basket with only 40 seconds to play and the score favoring Mount Vernon, 42 to 40, to score a goal that knotted the count. He was fouled on the play by Junior Kirk, Mount Vernon captain who had scored 23 points, and cashed in on the penalty toss for the victory.

A total of 41 personals were called in the game, and by the finish all five Mount Vernon regulars had been banished. Eddleman scored 21 points before leaving.

And don't overlook Urbana, for Coach Lew Stephens will have his charges back again this year. Urbana was the runner-up last year, losing to Morton, 32 to 31, in the closing seconds of play. Urbana bumped off its cross-town rival, Champaign, in the sectional finals, 34 to 27.

Paris, the toast of Southeastern Illinois with 36 straight triumphs, breezed into the final with a 43-to-26 win over Mattoon. Being one of the "sweet sixteen" is nothing novel for Paris since Coach Ernest Eveland's quintet appeared at Champaign in 1936, 1938, 1939 and 1940.

Streator Breezes Along.

Streator, breezing along the victory road, added its thirtieth triumph against only one defeat, at the expense of Sheldon, 48 to 33. Sheldon, which had lost only one game in 36 starts, simply was overpowered.

The two upsets were provided by Dixon and Normal Community, Dixon, which hadn't been given an outside chance at Ottawa, downed La Salle-Peru, 51 to 33. It was the first sectional winner for Coach L. E. Sharp, now in his thirteenth year of coaching, and the victory was achieved on Friday the 13th. Normal Community, overlooked in all advance picking at Peoria, brushed aside East Peoria, 37 to 36.

Decatur, another familiar team in the final and champion in 1931 and 1936, earned the right to another try for the title by eliminating Taylorville, 40 to 38. Shortly after the opening of the fourth quarter Taylorville held a five-point lead, but it melted away before the determined Decatur challenge.

Olney, a runner-up in its regional, vanquished Allendale, 36 to 30, at Bridgeport. Olney and Morton are the only teams which have been defeated in tournament play still in the running.

Moline, a regular in the finals with appearance in 1934, 1935, 1936, 1937, 1939 and 1940, won its second over Rock Island, 41 to 28. Wood River's 56 to 18 victory over Pinckneyville was its twentieth straight victory since Christmas. The Oilers will play Chicago's champion in the first round.

At Canton: Quincy 49, Pekin 39.
At Carbondale: West Frankfort 49, Murphysboro 32.
At Casey: Paris 43, Mattoon 26.
At Centralia: Centralia 43, Mount Vernon 42.
At Champaign: Urbana 34, Champaign 27.
At Collinsville: Wood River 56, Pinckneyville 18.
At Jacksonville: Springfield Cathedral 36, Winchester 29.
At Joliet: Streator 48, Sheldon 33.
At Moline: Moline 41, Rock Island 28.
At Ottawa: Dixon 51, LaSalle-Peru 33.
At Rockford: Freeport 42, East Rockford 29.
At Taylorville: Decatur 40, Taylorville 38.

FINAL PAIRINGS

Urbana (19-12) vs. Paris (36-0).
Streator (30-1) vs. Normal Community (17-11).
Dixon vs. Decatur (31-4).
West Frankfort (29-5) vs. Centralia (31-6).
Wood River (27-2) vs. Chicago Champion.
Freeport (21-5) vs. Moline (21-5).
Quincy (23-3) vs. Olney (26-4).

Champions Win in Class B Tourney

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., March 14 (AP). — The stubborn Hopkins Bulldogs fought off the final desperate rally of Golden City last night to win 38 to 34 and enter the semifinals of the Class B Missouri high school basketball tournament. It was Hopkins' forty-first victory against three defeats.

Greenwood took a lead at the start and carried it through to defeat Willow Springs, 55 to 40, in a game which Greenwood's Billy Long scored 28 points, said by officials to be a record.

Gordon and Calhoun In U. S. Squash Play

BALTIMORE, March 14.—Jack Gordon and Dave Calhoun of St. Louis will open their bid for the national doubles squash racquet title here today when they oppose the New York team of Germaine Glidden and Gordon Lindsey.

In matches last night, Baltimore was eliminated when its four entries lost in matches with teams from New York and Philadelphia.

New Yorker Stops Webb In Second

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP).—Johnny Colan, a New York boxer who went to Chicago to establish his reputation, took his place beside Cleveland's Jimmy Bivins as an outstanding light-heavyweight contender today after stopping Jimmy Webb of St. Louis in two rounds at Madison Square Garden.

Weighing 175 pounds to his opponent's 172¾, Colan dropped the Texan five times in the second round last night before Referee Billy Cavanaugh stopped the fight with only a minute and 58 seconds of the stanza gone.

Jacobs said he was considering the tussle for some time in May, but probably will wait until he determines the date before deciding whether the affair is to be for the title.

Webb held his own through the first round, but a right to the jaw sent him down early in the second and Colan battered him to the floor almost as soon as he arose.

It was the second meeting of the two, who fought an eight-round draw only a month ago.

Decision Is Booed In Amateur Bout

Henry Chuckolek, South Broadway middleweight, gained a hairline decision over Skeets Gilliam, Mid-State A. C., in the feature bout of the South Broadway Athletic Club's amateur boxing show last night.

Gilliam, who lost the first two rounds on points, gained the favor of the crowd in the third round by easily outpunching Chuckolek, and the 400 fans who witnessed the show booed the decision.

There were no knockouts on the eight-bout card and only two knockdowns were recorded. Eddie Dames, S. B. A. C. bantamweight, catching Charley Brendle, World Garden A. C., on the button in the third round of their fight and sending him to the canvas for an eight count, and Norman Groman, S. B. A. C., tagged Tony Spencer, also of S. B. A. C., in the second round of their fight and sent him to the floor for an eight count.

Charles Spitzfaden, S. B. A. C., featherweight novice Golden Gloves champion, was upset and almost knocked out by Norman Dane, Belleville, who had Spitzfaden holding on at the end. Jennings Fisher, S. B. A. C., bantamweight Golden Glove champion, easily outpunched Bud Naucke, Mid-State A. C. Jackie Dickers, Downtown Y, flyweight, gave another good showing last night as he easily outpointed Mickey Ortman, S. B. A. C.

Other results:

Walter Harker, S. B. A. C., welterweight, decisioned Bob Bauer, North Side Y.

Referee—Harry Cook. Judges—Ray Palmer, Tommy Sullivan.

Parade of Champions To End Sports Show

With a program designed to appeal to children, the Southwest Sportsmen's Show at the Municipal Auditorium swings into its semifinal phase today. The week-long show will be concluded tomorrow night with a parade of champions, much in the style of the Olympics.

The features performers in the floor show have rearranged their routines somewhat in preparation for an overflow crowd of children at today's sessions. Tony Accetta, the country's best-known fisherman, for example, will seek to demonstrate how easy it is for youngsters to master the art of casting, and, of course, "Buddy," the trained seal, and "Silver Nip," the horse with the college education, will have appealing tricks for the kids.

Tonight's session will be marked by the final competition in the casting turnament, beginning at 7 o'clock.

At the matinee tomorrow a demonstration of how coon hounds tree the elusive coon will be repeated by members of the St. Louis County Coon Hunters' Association. The demonstration presented last Sunday was greeted enthusiastically by a capacity crowd.

In the parade of the champions tomorrow night, members of winning teams in competition sponsored jointly by the Municipal Athletic Association and the Recreational Department of St. Louis will dress and march in Olympic style.

St. Louis Fives Lose In State Y Event

COLUMBIA, Mo., March 14 (AP).—The State Y. M. C. A. athletic tournament will get under way here today with emphasis on basketball, volley ball and swimming.

In preliminary basketball games last night the results were: Quaker Sparkies, St. Joseph, 28; North Side, St. Louis, 26; Troost Park, Kansas City, 33; Missouri Pacific, St. Louis, 30; Frozen Gold, Hannibal, 25; Flyer, St. Louis, 17.

The Goetz Athletic Club, St. Joseph, forfeited to the Rams, St. Louis County.

Harris Co-eds Win.

Rallying strongly in the second half, the Harris Teachers' co-eds last night defeated the Webster College basketball team by a score of 23 to 22. Webster led, 14 to 7, at the half, but Emalene Will's field goal in the last few seconds of play marked the margin of victory. Ann O'Donnell of Webster was high scorer with 17 points.

Syracuse Five Leads In A. B. C.

COLUMBUS, O., March 14 (AP). — Nine new listings appeared among the leaders on the big board of the American Bowling Congress tournament today.

Tumbling 2840 pins, the five-man team of the Pastime Athletic Club of Syracuse, N. Y., took first place in that event last night, dropping Simmons Industrial of Elizabeth, N. J., to second with 2790.

Another newcomer moved into third spot overnight, Johns Manville of Chicago posting a score of 2777.

The all-events leadership went to Frankie Schnaitman of Chester, Pa., with an 1889 series, while the brother team of Walt and Ed Dickerson, also of Chester, rode into first place in the doubles on a 1227 score. Schnaitman's singles total of 666 placed him fifth in that event.

Richard Hobbs of Lima, O., landed in second place in the all-events with an 1877 series and with his partner, Gerald Line, tumbled 1095 pis for eighth place in doubles.

Seven St. Louis teams will compete in the American Bowling Congress tournament at Columbus, O., over the week end. Three are scheduled to bowl in the 11 o'clock squad tonight, while four take the drives at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

The teams rolling tonight will be the St. Charles Cigars, Fehligs and Witters Snapi Dris. Tomorrow night's competitors from the Mound City will be the Michigans, McNamaras, St. Louis Specials and South Side Kiwanis.

Dark Horses Play For Basket Title

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 14 (AP).—A darkhorse is bound to win the national intercollegiate basketball championship. Two of them play for it tonight.

The Southeastern savages don't have a safety valve. When the pressure is on, they merely explode—to win. Two of their last three games have been decided by a field goal or a free throw tossed by stocky, towheaded L. D. Patton for identical 37-36 victories. Pittsburg, Kan., was the victim last night.

Warrensburg Teachers, the tallest team in the tourney, felt the might of Hamline's strict defense in the semifinals, losing 45-27. Warrensburg, the 1938 winner, got only one basket in 12 minutes of the second half.

Jack Srenco to Play Littman for Title

Finals in singles and doubles competition will be played today in the Ozark A. A. U. handball tournament at the Downtown "Y". In the singles, Jack Srenco will play Bill Littman of the Y. M. H. A. and in the doubles, Herb Buschart and M. Ertel will meet Joe Lintzenich and Larry Meisel.

SHORT WAVES by [illegible]

NAZI TROOP MUTINIES IN FRANCE REPORTED

LONDON, March 14 (AP).—Free French headquarters said today it had received word of serious mutinies by German occupational troops stationed at Chalon-sur-Saone, Dijon, Cosne and in the department of Manche in France.

At Dax and Arcachon, along the German-occupied French coast north of the Spanish frontier, Nazi soldiers are reported to have shot some of their officers, Free French headquarters said.

Nazis Execute Seven More Frenchmen at Paris.

VICHY, March 14 (AP).—Seven more Frenchmen have been executed by German firing squads in Paris, it was disclosed last night.

Announcement of the executions was made by the German commander of Greater Paris, who said the seven had been condemned for acts of violence against members of the Nazi army of occupation.

ITALY REPORTS DESTROYER SANK ENEMY SUBMARINE

Also Announces That British Airmen Made Raids on Outskirts of Athens.

ROME, (From Italian Broadcasts), March 14 (AP).—The Italian high command reported today that an "enemy" submarine had been sunk in the Mediterranean by the destroyer Cigno.

British air raids on the outskirts of occupied Athens and on the African cities of Tripoli and Bengasi were reported. It said the raids caused no damage or casualties.

TWO ARMY DESERTERS PLEAD GUILTY OF KILLING F. B. I. MAN

Pair Who Fired When Agents Tried to Arrest Them Held for Grand Jury.

BRISTOL, Va., March 14 (AP).—Two young Army deserters, Charles J. Lovett, 21 years old, of Philadelphia, and James Edward Testerman, 22, of Clinchburg, Va., pleaded guilty to a charge of murder of a Federal Bureau of Investigation agent at a hearing before United States Commissioner T. H. Crabtree here today.

The agent, Hubert J. Treacy Jr., 28, of the Richmond office, was shot to death and Charles L. Tignor, 29, F. B. I. agent at Bristol, was wounded four times in the chest when they attempted to arrest the soldiers in an Abingdon cafe yesterday.

Crabtree ordered the pair, listed by the F. B. I. as deserters from the Third Cavalry at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., held for the United States District Court grand jury session at Abingdon April 13.

SAMUEL B. WESTLAKE JR. IS SUED FOR DIVORCE

Wife Asserts He Told Her That He Regretted Marriage; Asks for Alimony.

Mrs. Jane R. Westlake, formerly of Little Rock, Ark., filed suit yesterday to divorce Samuel B. Westlake Jr., Lindbergh boulevard and Dorsett road, St. Louis County, alleging general indignities and requesting alimony.

Mrs. Westlake, Westlake's second wife, said in her petition that he told her he regretted their marriage and charged that he was quarrelsome and coerced her to borrow money for their living expenses.

They were married April 3, 1937, at Waterloo, Ill., shortly after his first wife, Mrs. Katherine P. Westlake, a Veiled Prophet's maid in 1923, had obtained a divorce on grounds of general indignities, and they were separated last Oct. 28. Westlake is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel B. Westlake, 5 Hillvale drive, Clayton.

EX-GOV. BIBB GRAVES OF ALABAMA DIES

Was in Florida After Operation to Recuperate to Campaign for Third Term.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 14 (AP).—David Bibb Graves, twice Governor of Alabama and a candidate for a third term, died unexpectedly at Sarasota, Fla., early today. He was 68 years old.

Mrs. Graves was awakened by the former Governor's heavy breathing and summoned Dr. A. L. Matthews about 2 a. m. The physician said he died shortly after.

Mr. Graves recently underwent operations in Baltimore, and was convalescing at Sarasota before opening his campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in the May 5 primary.

Born on a farm near Hope Hull, Ala., former Gov. Graves was reared in the country and educated at the University of Alabama, University of Texas and Yale, where he was a Phi Beta Kappa.

He was the only man to serve two full four-year terms as Governor and he had planned to begin his campaign for a third term on March 21.

The body will be returned here Sunday, accompanied by Mrs. Graves, his only immediate surviving relative. Funeral plans had not been completed.

Painter Charles Vezin Dies at 83.

CORAL GABLES, Fla., March 14 (AP). — Charles Vezin, an outstanding landscape painter and a leader among art lovers in New York, died here yesterday after a brief illness. He was 83 years old.

Is This The Road Back?

The time now has come when we must proceed with the business of carrying the war to the enemy."—Gen. George Marshall, U. S. Chief of Staff.

● There are at least five good reasons for believing Norway is destined to become one of the turnpikes over which Allied armies some day will roll toward Berlin.

● In this northern country of fjords and forests, a common front with Russia could be built. Here Nazi Germany could be engaged in the type of diversion action Josef Stalin has been urging. Successful invasion might forestall attacks on vital Iceland and even on England.

● Big armies of Americans and Canadians are being assembled in the British Isles, obviously for reasons encompassing more than defense.

● Germany has been rushing Norway's defenses under direction of her topflight engineers.

● The problem of joining British and American forces with their Russian allies involves, in Norway, but one thing—a drive across the top. Topography favors the invader.

● Northern terrain is ideal for infiltration tactics such as those practiced by Japan; the indented coastline is difficult to guard. Once entrenched in the region, British-American troops might not only release Soviet troops for duty elsewhere but could keep secure the important northern supply route to Archangel on which Russia is dependent for much of her outside aid.

● To conquer Norway, Germany sent half a million men northward, later reduced her forces to about 100,000. Reinforcing these in sufficient numbers to counter an Allied invasion would involve taking troops from other fronts, certainly some from Russia. Swedish sources have reported five new divisions already sent to Norway in addition to a large force stationed in Denmark.

● The Allies, meanwhile, also have been moving troops. In North Ireland are at least two Yankee contingents—soldiers from the midwestern United States. Canadians also have been arriving in increasing numbers. Trained in invasion tactics, these two expeditionary forces presumably would be welded with Britons into a single, unified command for the first great step toward enemy soil.

● Pivot in the defense of Norway would be the city of Trondheim, nestling on a sheltered fjord behind defenses Hitler has described as comparable to the Siegfried Line. German reports tell of a great naval base here but persons reaching the United States from Norway in recent months say construction barely had started last summer. It seems certain there are no large drydocks and there is doubt if vessels above 10,000 tons could be repaired.

● Nevertheless, the 35,000-ton battleship Tirpitz, the 10,000-ton Admiral Scheer and the 10,000-ton Admiral Hipper have been reported at Trondheim. Other important naval installations are at Bergen, where a bomb-proof submarine base has been blasted under a cliff of solid rock, and at Mandal, in the south, where vessels up to cruiser size can be accommodated.

● The German radio has described the entire coastline from Kirkenes to Oslo as "highly fortified" but both Swedish and British sources indicate heavy defenses are concentrated only near key cities. From Trondheim south, heavy barbed wire and machine gun nests cover most exposed points; north of Trondhiem engineers are known to be at work under direction of German Munitions Minister Albert Speer, who succeeded Maj. Gen. Fritz Todt.

St. Louis Flower Show

TRAINING FOR OVERSEAS DUTY Engineer soldiers scrambling down a simulated ship's cargo net at the replacement center at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., practicing for a job they may soon face in some far-off port—that of debarking from a transport to small boats. The 20-foot high platform, with a Jacob's ladder on one side and cargo net on the other, is a recent addition to camp equipment.

Treatment Of Insomnia By Massage

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

THIS is another attempt to explain the methodology of modern methods of medical treatment. One that is very useful and has not been sufficiently used is massage.

Massage results in a number of quite different physiologic changes in the body. It will not do certain things which are often popularly ascribed to it. For instance, it will not remove tissue deposits to any great extent. It is true that massage and passive movement will often break up deposits around joints and in old fractures, but what I mean is that massage will not remove fat deposits.

Its principle action is in changing the physiology by changing the distribution of the blood.

The effects of massage can be divided into general and local changes. We all know something about the improvement in general bodily feeling that comes from massage. Nerves are soothed, muscle aches and fatigue disappear, sleep and a general feeling of well-being are induced.

These effects are largely the result of increasing blood circulation and giving it better distribution, also by the throwing off of the muscle poisons which have accumulated in the system. Thus massage is a very good remedy for insomnia, nervousness, overwork and fatigue, and does not have the disadvantages of the after effects of sedative drugs that are often used in these conditions.

The movements used in massage are named effleurage, petrissage, and tapotement. Effleurage is a stroking movement with systematic and deep stroking. Petrissage is a complex movement—it consists of kneading the muscles. Tapotement is a percussion movement—tapping, clapping and beating the muscles.

* * *

BESIDES THESE, most masseurs make joint movements, especially in the case of the back and around the lower end of the spine, they make the joints move more than they ordinarily would do in the average amount of exercise.

By these movements blood masses are displaced and are redistributed, especially in the muscles. Massage is therefore particularly useful in stiff muscles and muscular rheumatism and lumbago. It is also useful in chronic joint disease and in the atrophy of muscles that occurs after convalescence and a long stay in bed and in infantile paralysis.

Nearly all forms of neuritis are benefited by massage. It is of inestimable value in the treatment of dislocations and fractures in the period of convalescence in order to restore complete function and movement. A special set of muscle manipulations is known to be valuable in heart disease.

Constipation offers a good field for massage. The masseur starts with friction over the cecum and works over the whole colon and small intestine thoroughly. This is somewhat similar to the use of the cannon ball or medicine ball. The treatment should be given on an empty stomach and should not last over 15 minutes.

They'll Do It Every Time :-: By Jimmy Hatlo

Daughters Who Dare By Rob Eden

CHAPTER THIRTY.

JUNE was humming a little tune as she dashed up the steps to the apartment. She had no more than put the key in the lock when the door swung open. Dolly confronted her.

"Mugsy or any of his boy friends call on you while I was gone?"

"No. But he's been phoning every few minutes, all day long. He seems to be quite upset about you breaking your date with him."

The phone rang.

"I'll take it," June said. "Probably Mugsy again."

It was Mugsy and he spoke angrily when he heard her voice on the wire.

"What's the idea of standing me up?" he demanded.

"Had a little business to attend to," the girl answered. "But I want to see you—say about 6:30 this evening . . . No, not here. Some place downtown. Make it the corner of Fifth and Main . . . Okay? . . . Goodby, then I'll be seeing you."

She hung up, and swung around gaily.

"My, you seem to be happy," Dolly commented. "You must have had a good day."

"One of the very best, ever, and the day's still young. Dolly, I think everything's going to be all right, now."

"You mean about Eddie?"

"You'll have your Eddie back soon, and this whole mess will be cleared up, I'd bank on it."

Tears came to Dolly's eyes, as she put her arms about June.

"Why shouldn't I trust you? You're Eddie's sister."

The doorbell rang, and Dolly went to open it. Tod Hamel and Joe Davidson entered.

"Well, so here you are!" Tod exclaimed as he saw June. "I've been worried about you."

"You shouldn't. I'm quite capable of taking care of myself. At least I have been so far."

"I'll take care of that, Dolly," June said, in sudden alarm. She walked quickly across the room, picked up the parcel and carried it into the bedroom. Before leaving the room, she inspected the window fastenings to be certain they were locked.

"I want you to tell me what business you have with Mugsy Barker," Davidson said, when she returned to the living room.

"Yes, June, it will be better for you to tell us," Tod spoke up. "I don't like the idea of you getting so chummy with Mugsy."

"I don't know—all I know is that he's safe. I talked with him on the telephone last night."

"Didn't he say where he was?"

"He did not, and if he had, I wouldn't tell you now. There are a couple of things that have to be straightened out first."

"Believe me, June," Tod said, "all we want to do is to help you and Eddie. Mr. Davidson doesn't want to send him back to prison, but he does want to get the lowdown on Barker."

* * *

"There's nothing I can tell you now," June said. "And if you want to help me, you won't come here. Mugsy probably knows already that you're here, Mr. Davidson, and that won't do me any good. It will make what I'm trying to do doubly difficult.

"He'll think I'm trying to double-cross him. All I'm interested in is getting Eddie out of the difficulty he's in now, and started out on his new job. You'll do me a favor, both of you, by leaving now and letting me handle things my own way."

"I certainly don't want to make things more difficult for you, Miss Randolph. If you'll promise to help me in any way you can—"

"I can promise nothing, but if anything should come my way and I get the chance, I'll certainly do my duty as a citizen."

"Coming, Hamel?" Davidson asked.

"Not now. I'll see you later."

"You may say what you wish," he said, "but you're not going to see that gangster again unless I'm with you. You've already taken too many chances. You can't trust him for a minute."

"It's very sweet of you, Tod, and I appreciate it, but I'm afraid you can't help me in what I have to do."

"Nevertheless, I'm going to try. You're going to see that guy again tonight, aren't you?"

The girl admitted that she was.

"Then you're going to have an escort, whether you want one or not. I'm not going to let you leave this place unless I go with you." He stood up and walked over to her.

"Listen, darling, I've been nearly crazy since I found out you were associating with Barker. He's dangerous as a wild animal. Don't you realize that?"

"I've been able to handle him so far. He's been almost a gentleman."

"It's a good thing for him that he has!"

"There's no need for dramatics, Tod."

"It's only because I love you so, June, that I'm so worried about what you are doing. I can't think of anything in the world but you. I've been so worried today, not knowing where you were. Somehow, you gave Davidson's men the slip and we've been looking for you all day."

"They must be blind. I certainly made no effort to fool them. I simply walked out of the apartment the back way, went down to the corner and caught a bus to Kensington."

"Kensington? You didn't go home, did you?"

"No. I spent the day in the park—playing with a little boy and a dog and talking with a nursemaid."

"Then you weren't with Barker?"

"Of course not. He was a bit upset, too, as he expected me to go riding with him this morning and I broke the date."

"But you are going to see him later?"

"Yes, that's right."

"Then I'm going with you." His jaw set stubbornly.

"Just as you say."

Sand Tarts

One-half cup fat, one cup sugar, two egg yolks, one teaspoon vanilla, one-fourth teaspoon mace, two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt.

Cream fat and sugar. Add rest of ingredients, blend. Chill dough. Roll out and cut out squares. Spread with topping:

Two egg whites, one-fourth cup sugar, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-third cup shredded almonds (optional).

Lightly beat whites, add rest of ingredients. Quickly brush over tops cookies arranged on greased baking sheet. Bake 10 minutes in moderate oven (350).

Answers to Questions on Social Usage

By Emily Post

IN PRINTING the following letter, I want to remark that the business or professional advantages of countless men would suffer seriously were they to follow this one example. I must say further, that the stay-at-home impulse of the man mentioned in this letter is the most extreme I have ever heard of! This letter is not from his wife, but from his secretary:

"From time to time my employer receives invitations to stag gatherings. Many of these are business dinners and at times in the past he has gone (unwillingly) because he felt that the explanation that he does not care to go anywhere in the evenings without his wife might not, to most men, seem a sufficient excuse. He is a great family man, this boss of mine. He has asked me in future to send his excuses to all such invitations, but at the same time leave his wife's name out of it. Will you tell me what excuse I can offer?"

Since he has no qualms about the wisdom of cutting himself off from all men's dinners, conventions or fraternity reunions, the wording of the answer is simple:

DEAR MRS. POST: In a newspaper notice not long ago the name of the bridegroom's father was not mentioned. His parents are divorced and just the mother's name was given. The bridegroom, it is true, was Mr. John Jones, Jr., the son of Mrs. Howard Blank, of blank address. Was this not an unnecessary slight to the father? I thought so, but the explanation given me was that the junior was proof enough, under the conditions, that the bridegroom had a father living.

Answer: Very decidedly his father should have been mentioned—unless there has been a complete break between father and son, and the father for a very serious reason is deserving of this repudiation. It is true that John Jones, Jr., does imply a living father, but is seems to me that this emphasizes rather than explains the omission of any reference to him.

DEAR MRS. POST: Does an invitation to a shower cancel a dinner obligation, or is this different from another party invitation?

Answer: It is different. Since its sole object is to ask each guest to bring a gift, it hardly could be considered a return for a past party or an obligation for repayment in future. In fact, a repayment to the givers would be more in order than the other way around.

How It Started

By Jean Newton

If the Black Cat Crosses Your Path.

Take a blind cat, burn it, throw a pinch of its ashes over a shopkeeper, and you may help yourself to whatever you please from his booth, for he will have become as blind as the deceased feline with whose remains he was sprinkled; so runs an old Slavonic superstition.

After a long drouth, pick up a cat—no, two cats are better—a male and a female still better; carry them in a procession, with music, to a pool; duck them and let them go and rain is sure to fall, say the Javanese.

All over the world the cat has managed to make its way into native notions; some of them survive universally to this very day, as, it is unlucky if a black cat crosses your path.

This springs from several old beliefs: first, that when Satan set out upon his earthly excursions on mischief bent, he assumed the form of a black cat; second, that black cats are witches in disguise and third, that black cats are evil spirits incarnate.

Cool Voice of Authority -o- By Angelo Patri

THERE is great need of quiet in the homes and the schools today. Children are excited. That is to be expected. Their brothers are going to war. They see them go, bid them good-by, hear their parents talking about war, see the war pictures, feel war on every hand.

It is the time for quiet steady control.

Lower your voice. Speak so quietly and clearly that while the children have to listen to hear what you say, when they do so they hear and feel your strength behind your words. You are not afraid. You are standing tall and strong beside them and you are in full control of the situation.

Don't shout. If a child does not heed when spoken to quietly don't raise your voice. Speak again in the calm, clear voice of control and if he does not heed—having formed that habit in long practice—say no more. Go to him and in quiet strength place him, firmly and gently where he ought to be. Then go. Don't talk.

Too much talk is the cause of disobedience, disorder and confusion. Children have to get meaning from words, and if there are too many words, which as far too often the case, they are drowned in the sounds and so cannot hear. Use the fewest possible words. Say them firmly and cheerfully and impersonally. Make no speeches.

Never try to talk above the noise. Stand still and look at the children steadily, with the expectation that they will quiet themselves and listen to you and they will do just that. Then be sure you have something to say, say it; stop when you have said it, and go your way.

* * *

If the children learn that you haven't anything really important to say, or that you cannot say it when you have, that you are excitable and fearful, they will pay no attention to you and go ahead with the noise.

Real power of control is what produces the cool, still voice of authority. That is born of spiritual courage and spiritual strength. When the soul is strong the body is valiant with it and the voice is the voice of the spirit of the leader.

You remember the Bible story of Elijah on Mount Horeb? The prophet was ordered to stand before the Lord and hear what He had to say; so Elijah went. There was a great wind, but the Lord was not in that; an earthquake, but the Lord was not on that; a fire, but the Lord was not in that.

After all this terrible noise and commotion there fell a great stillness and in that stillness the Lord spoke. Authority comes out of the stillness of the spirit.

Is the place of your authority still enough to allow your voice to speak with power? Is it the still, small voice of supreme control? That is the voice that is needed today throughout this land.

IF YOU ASK My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM 16 and a freshman in high school. The reason I am not in a higher grade is my mother died when I was 8 and I have had to work to help us get along. There were four of us and father wouldn't give us up, so we've had a pretty hard time getting along but we have managed. But you see, father has never had any schooling so he doesn't see any sense in anyone having more than an eighth grade education. But I want to finish high school and even go to college if possible, not just do farm work all my life. How am I to convince him a person these days needs a real education? Father does not care if I go with the boys if I take my brothers and sisters along and don't go anywhere but to church. But I've tried this and it doesn't work. Does every older sister have to take all the little ones along when she has a date? I have broken several now just because of this ruling of father's. It's the same way at school parties, so half the time I don't go. I've tried to reason with father but it doesn't help any. I like a certain boy in high school a lot. I have known him a long time but never gone out with him. How can I tell if he likes me and how can I get him to go out with me? Is it wrong of me to spend the night with a girl friend and have a date with a boy while I am at her house? Then I don't have the whole family along. Still, then I feel I am disobeying father and not doing right. GIRL.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

You must have a very unusual man for a father, for it is not often one finds a man rearing his motherless youngsters alone. When he does, he is likely to be too strict in his efforts to bring them up right. You have managed to persuade your father that you should go to high school. I think if you make good grades he will doubtless allow you to go on, and perhaps the teachers might be able to persuade him to let you go to college, too. A great deal, of course, will depend on how much he needs you at home. If your father thinks seriously, he must realize that each person needs as much education as he can possibly get in order to take his place in the world today. As to the brothers and sisters following like little colts at your heels every time you are with a boy, that is going to extremes. Your father forgets that you are growing up. Now is the time for him to give you a little more freedom, to allow you to mingle with boys and girls your own age and to have good times with the group at the school dances, etc. I agree with you that if you are forbidden to date the boys alone you are not being very honest when you go to a friend's house, and then go out with boys. The boy whom you like, in high school, will ask you for a date if he feels so inclined. If he does not, you might get a girl friend to ask him, along with you, to her next party.

Dear Martha Carr:

TO WHOM DO I go or to whom do I write concerning a burial permit? Are there any charges? DAILY READER.

I imagine you mean a certified copy of a death record. This you can get from the Bureau of Vital Statistics, Room 10, Municipal Courts Building, if the person died here in St. Louis. If outside the city, write the State Bureau of Vital Statistics at Jefferson City, Mo. The fee in each case will be 50c.

Economical Menus

By Meta Given

IF there is a defense worker in your home who is on the night shift and not doing so well, a well-stocked lunch box that is really tempting even in the cold gray hours before dawn may be the answer to your problem. Nothing can do so much as good food, neatly packed, to boost morale when morale is lowest, just before dawn. The lunch box should always contain a hot drink in a thermos bottle—coffee, cocoa or soup—for a hot drink is always cheering. Meat, cheese and peanut butter sandwiches are good, for they supply lots of protein and vitamins; and the bread should be enriched for its Vitamin B content. Vitamin B is the appetite vitamin which stimulates lagging appetites. Raw salads are full of all kinds of vitamins; they can be packed in small screw-top jars. Crisp carrot sticks are rich in Vitamin A; wrap them in waxed paper to keep them crisp. Fresh fruits need no wrapping but their own skins, and are ideal for lunch-box desserts.

MENUS FOR SUNDAY.

Breakfast.

Boiled grapefruit, two grapefruit, sugar, butter; scrambled eggs, five eggs, salt, pepper, bacon drippings, five tablespoons milk; popovers, one and one-fourth cups flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon sugar one cup milk, two teaspoons butter, two eggs, cocoa (for all) three tablespoons cocoa, sugar, two cups evaporated milk, two cups water, vanilla if desired.

Dinner.

Braised breast of lamb, one lamb breast (two pounds), salt, pepper, one-fourth cup flour, one cup water; creamed potatoes, one and one-half pounds potatoes, one and one-half cups medium white sauce; minted carrots, one bunch carrots, butter, mint jelly; bread and butter, eight slices rye bread, butter; lime fluff, five tablespoons quick tapioca, two and one-fourth cups water, three-fourth cup sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, two and one-half tablespoons lime juice, two egg whites (save yolks for pudding Tuesday); coffee (for adults only), four tablespoons coffee; milk (for children), two cups milk.

Supper.

Beef soup with vegetables (left from Saturday lunch); crackers, one-fourth pound soda crackers; mixed dried fruit salad, one-half pound mixed dried fruit, one cup warm water, one-fourth cup honey, one and one-half tablespoon lemon juice, lettuce, mayonnaise; tea (for adults only), two teaspoons tea; milk (for children), two cups milk.

Co-operating with our Government in National Defense, Meta Given has written a new leaflet containing Menus and Recipes for a Family of Four at a cost of about $8 a week. Send self-addressed 3c stamped envelope to Meta Given, in care of this newspaper. Include an extra 3c stamp to cover cost of handling.

Daily Food Report in St. Louis

NEW cabbage, now on the market, is very good in quality and price. Texas carrots are more reasonably priced than those from California although the latter are a little better in quality. Celery is down in price and there is some good Pascal celery available. Lettuce is still fairly high.

No strawberries are expected for week-end buying. Oranges remain reasonably priced and grapefruit is both plentiful and cheap.

My Neighbor Says:

Flowering hedges like those made by using spireas, deutzias and lilacs, should be cut back at once when the flowering season has passed. Rather severe cutting is necessary if such hedges are to be kept in good condition. Next year's flowers are made from buds which will be started this season, and unless the trimming is done early, these buds will be cut off.

When ironing puffed sleeves, fold the sleeve in halves, pulling apart as it sticks. In this way you can get down into the gathers at the top. Iron it dry and you will have a pretty puffed sleeve when it is done.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

by WYNN

SUNDAY, MARCH 15.

EMOTIONS likely to run high today, especially in early hours; extravagance, too, is to be guarded against — best bet: Relax and store up energy. Week ahead warns against letting good enough alone—we can all do better and more of it. Work hard!

What Is Suffering?

Suffering often occurs without visible or physical cause, sometimes because of an entirely false belief. I once knew a woman who believed her son dead in another city; her grief was intense and lasted up till the moment she saw him in perfect health when he returned home a week later. The erroneous report of his death had caused just as much suffering in her as would the sight of his dead body.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead from birthday today may be emotionally confusing; be sure of own ideals, goals, be practical. Yet more opportunity in occupation, love life, from September on. Danger: April 9-17; Aug. 26-Sept. 9; Jan. 12-19, 1943.

Monday, March 16.

AN excellent day for the long pull for good purposes but not so good for the surface temptations that are bound to arise. Detour misunderstandings, whether by you or against you; avoid self-pity and its causes. P. M. favors keen thinking.

War and Peace.

Most of us think of periods of war and peace only in terms of the external events that occur. Very few go further and analyze the inner natures of these apparently opposite states. The cynic twists what he sees externally into a wisecrack: "Peace causes war, and war causes peace"; but he may be more than half right, for deep thinkers have stated that both are parts of a great human process.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead from anniversary today is very emotional, and can be more expansive from Sept. 8 on—if feelings don't bring problems. Strong year for developing mentally. Danger: April 10-19; Aug. 28-Sept. 10; Jan. 13-21, 1943.

Tuesday.

Baseball and War

By Henry McLemore

IF I were Judge Kennesaw Mountain Landis the first thing I would do after changing my name and getting a haircut would be to hire a sort of hush man for professional baseball. I'd hire him for the duration of the war and his chief duty would be to hush up the publicity that is being given the players who are holding out for more money.

The sports pages have been sprinkled the past few weeks with stories of how this first baseman, this catcher, that pitcher, is holding out and refusing to join his team unless he gets a substantial raise in pay.

This isn't a knock at the players who are trying to get the ante boosted or at the owners who are trying to save themselves some money. That's their business. They can lock themselves behind doors and argue from now until doomsday, or they can exchange air mail letters and wires until they run out of money. But for the good of the game, for the good of themselves and for the good of the morale of the country at large, let them keep their differences quiet.

★ ★ ★

It just doesn't set well to read in one part of the paper about some young man losing his life for his country at $21 a month, and in another section about some young man refusing to play at a game for anything under $25,000 a year. Maybe he is worth this to his team. The chances are he is, and more. All during my sports writing days I contended that the players, day in and day out, got the worst of it from the owners, thanks to the unique system under which organized baseball is operated.

But that's not here nor there now. The truth is, the owners and players are still blind to the fact that what used to be good publicity now is nothing but bad taste, to put it bluntly. They are so accustomed to utilizing salary disputes as a means of getting the names of the teams and players in the papers that they apparently can't change.

Well, I've heard enough criticism around and about to feel safe in advising them to do something about it. With hundreds of thousands of the nation's young men (and old ones, too, for that matter) undergoing hardship, danger and privation in all corners of the earth, no baseball player is going to increase his popularity with the fans by publicizing his refusal to put on a flannel suit and work three or four hours a day under a southern sun.

As our national sport, as the game singled out by the President of the United States himself as one of such importance that it should be carried on for the people's good even during time of war, baseball has a tremendous obligation. It should see to it that everyone connected with the game conducts himself in a way becoming to the new responsibility.

The men who make baseball just can't assume that they are privileged characters with a special dispensation. They have no right to take the attitude that they, and they alone, can hang out the "business as usual" sign and go right along as if these were the days of Cobb, Three-Fingered Brown, the Indestructible Orioles, and Hoss Radbourne.

There is something else for the players to remember. Nearly every one of them who is prominent enough to be a hold-out is a hero to half the youngsters in this country, and to a lot of the older folk, too. This is no time to let them down, and I can think of no better way to let them down than to argue publicly for a salary three, four, five or six times the amount MacArthur is getting.

Wise Opening Lead by West Sets Declarer

By Ely Culbertson

East, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

	♠ 9 7 3 ♥ Q 7 4 2 ♦ 9 6 4 2 ♣ 7 3
♠ A 8 4 ♥ K 10 8 ♦ Q 10 5 3 ♣ J 9 8	NORTH WEST EAST SOUTH	♠ Q J 10 6 2 ♥ A 9 6 ♦ A J 8 ♣ 6 4
	♠ K 5 ♥ J 5 3 ♦ K 7 ♣ A K Q 10 5 2

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 spade	2 clubs	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

West's penalty double was "close" but, considering the vulnerability conditions, probably was the best action available.

As a matter of fact, the same two club overcall was doubled at several tables, but not always with good results. As may be seen, there was a laydown game in spades for East-West; hence, it was necessary to defeat a two club contract two tricks as compensation. Only at this one table was that result attained. At the other tables West woodenly laid down he spade ace, the top card of his partner's bid suit, and, after that, there was no stopping declarer from taking six trumps and the spade king.

Only one West saw that there was no possible necessity for a spade opening. With three spades to the ace, West could not hope for a ruff and there were two separate reasons for failing to lead the suit. One was that dummy might be short in spades and might ruff the second or third round. The other reason applied to just such a possibility as actually existed; that is, that East's spade suit was queen-jack high instead of king high. In this latter case, of course, it was imperative that East be given a chance to lead through the declarer to West's ace.

Just as there was no virtue in a spade lead, neither was there point in attacking the heart or diamond suit. And, as may be seen, a lead of either would have salvaged one precious trick for declarer. West clearly saw that there was on conceivable objection to a trump opening, and on that sound basis, led the eight of clubs. After that, declarer could not establish a trick outside of his trumy suit, and thus had to concede a 500 point penalty.

SATURDAY ROUNDUP

Answer: Frenchman is a compound of French plus man. German is not a compound of Germ plus man. The plurals of German, Burman, Mussulman, and Ottoman are formed by adding "s."

Cincinnati: Recently you reported some extremely long words. Here are two long words that I learned as a boy in Germany: Constantinopolitanisher Dudelsackpfeifenmachergesellenssamariter-verbandsburofraulein. The words mean, "The office girl of the association of the medical helpers of the bagpipe makers of Constantinople."—E. L. S.

Answer: H'm.

Answer: Dr. Brown may operate his automobile, or his X-ray machine; but I doubt if he could "operate" Mrs. Smith. Better say: Dr. Brown operated on Mrs. Smith.

Boston: Please give the pronunciation of the word SECRETIVE.—C. M.

Jefferson City: Please give the plural form of NOTARY PUBLIC.—J. H.

Answer: The correct plural is Notaries Public. Other similar plurals are: Attorneys General; Knights Templar; Major Generals; Deputy Sheriffs.

Don't miss my new pamphlet, RULES FOR PRONOUNCING SPANISH. With the aid of this simple key you will be able to pronounce Spanish words and names without difficulty. It's free. Send a stamped (3c), self-addressed envelope to Frank Colby, in care of this paper. Please make sure your return envelope bears a 3c stamp.

Cheese Cake

Two cups dried toasted crumbs or zwieback, one-third cup butter, melted; one-third cup sugar.

Mix ingredients. Reserve one-third cup and sprinkle rest on bottom and sides of a buttered shallow pan (spring mold suggested). Filling:

Three cups cottage cheese, one cup sugar, two-thirds teaspoon salt, two teaspoons grated lemon rind, one-fourth cup flour, four eggs, beaten; one cup cream or whole milk, two tablespoons lemon juice, one tablespoon butter, melted.

Press cheese through fine sieve to make creamy. Beat eggs and add sugar, salt and rind. Beat thoroughly. Stir in flour and add to the cheese. Pour in rest of ingredients, place in crust dusted pan. Sprinkle with rest of crumbs and bake one hour and 15 minutes in slow oven (300 degrees).

U. S. LANDS THOUSANDS OF MEN IN AUSTRALIA

By EDWARD ANGLY
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1942.)

SYDNEY, March 14.—Thousands of United States soldiers have arrived safely in Australia.

Where the soldiers are debarking and what they are doing is a military secret. But it is posible now to reveal that the troop convoy in which I came to Australia three weeks ago was attacked on more than one occasion.

Our protecting warships were quick to strike and I have a notion that some of the Japanese who left home looking for trouble found so much of it in our company that they will never get home to tell the tale.

On the other hand, every man in our convoy reached his destination safe and sound.

We made the journey in crowded, blacked-out troopships, out of touch with the world at war for several weeks, not knowing at any one time what waters we were in or where we were headed.

The men with whom I made the journey came from all parts of the United States. Many of them were rushed across the country to our embarkation point to leave on one of the early transports which were harbingers of many more to come.

By soft civilian peacetime standards, the ships were overcrowded. So much so, in fact, that some of the thousands on all the transports slept in tiers of bunks on the semi-sheltered decks. Out there it was cold the first few nights, for it was midwinter when we left North America, but when we reached the tropics those whose bunks were on deck were the lucky ones. The decks were sleeping porches open to the trade winds.

The men inside tossed and sweated, with all the portholes closed because of the blackout, and with only the ventilator systems to clear the air during fetid nights.

As the nights grew hotter, more and more of the men and officers began pitching their blankets and lifebelts on deck, wherever they could find room to stretch out.

At all hours we wore lifebelts when outside the cabins or holds.
